SENATOR GRISWOLD DIES

..Heart Attack Fatal To Nebraska Solon

Passes Away At Navy Hospital; Death Sudden

SENATOR GRISWOLD

Death Is Attributed To Coronary Occlusion

—Ex-Governor Was 60—

WASHINGTON (Monday) (AP)—Sen. Dwight Griswold (R-Neb) died early today following a heart attack. He was 60.

The Senator, who served three terms as governor of Nebraska, was stricken while enroute home from a dinner party. He was taken to the Naval Hospital at nearby Bethesda, Md., where he died several hours later.

Lorne Kennedy, the Senator's administrative assistant, said death was attributed to a coronary occlusion.

Griswold, whose home was in Scottsbluff, came to the Senate in January 1953, having been elected to fill out the unexpired term of the late Sen Kenneth Wherry He had not announced whether he would be a candidate for a full six-year term in this fall's elections.

Kennedy said the Senator and Mrs. Griswold had been to dinner at the home of Adm. and Mrs. Arthur Davis, and that Griswold was stricken while enroute home about 10 p.m. (EST) last night.

They returned to the Davis home, Kennedy continued, and the admiral immediately made arrangements for Griswold to be taken to the Bethesda hospital.

He died without regaining consciousness, Kennedy said. Mrs. Griswold was at the bedside.

The Senator's death should not make any change in the political composition of the senate. Nebraska Gov. Robert C. Crosby is a Republican, and presumably will name a Republican to succeed him.

Before Griswold's death the Senate lineup stood at 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans and 1 Independent

Griswold was born at Harrison in Sioux County on November 27, 1893. After attending high school in Gordon for two years, he went on to Kearney Military Academy, graduating in 1910.

He began his college career at Nebraska Wesleyan but transferred to the University of Nebraska after two years. He received his A.B. degree in 1914.

Upon graduation from the University, he began his long connection with the First National Bank at Gordon. His banking career was interrupted by military service in 1916. During World War I Griswold served as an officer with the 127th Field Artillery and was with the 4th Nebraska Infantry on the Mexican Border.

Griswold became director of the First National Bank of Gordon shortly after the war and in 1922 he became editor and publisher of the Gordon Journal. He held those positions with the weekly newspaper through 1940.

He was a member of the Nebraska House of Representatives in 1921 and of the Senate in 1925, 1927 and 1929. He also was president of the Nebraska Press Association in 1930 and Department Commander of the American Legion in 1929.

Griswold received the Republican nomination for governor in 1932, 1934 and 1936 but was defeated each time in the general election. He won the nomination again in 1940 and that time was elected governor.

He served three terms as governor (1941-1947). In 1946 he tried unsuccessfully to unseat Senator Butler in the United States Senate.

Griswold then served in the American Civil Administration of occupied Germany and headed the U.S. aid mission in Greece for a year, retiring in 1948.

In 1950, Griswold was elected to the University of Nebraska Board of Regents. In 1951 he purchased the controlling interest in the Gering National Bank and was at that time chairman of the board of the First National Bank of Gordon.

In 1951 Griswold was appointed by Gov. Val Peterson to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Kenneth Wherry, who died while in office. Griswold was then re-elected to the Senate in 1952.

Griswold is survived by his wife, the former Erma Elliott, and a daughter, Mrs Dorothy Goyer. A son [illegible] Elliott died of polio in 1951

Funeral arrangements had not been completed early Monday.

CROSBY:

'Death Is Great Loss To State'

Nebraska political leaders Monday morning were shocked by the sudden death of Sen. Dwight Griswold.

Gov. Robert Crosby said: "The news leaves me heartsick. He was one of Nebraska's great public figures. He was also one of my dearest friends. This is a great loss to Nebraska."

State Republican Chairman Dave Martin of Kearney, when told the news of the senator's death, said: "The loss of Sen. Dwight Griswold is a tremendous loss for all the people of Nebraska because he was the kind of a leader who thought and acted as the people of Nebraska felt."

William Meier of Minden, state Democratic chairman, said early Monday morning that "Sen. Griswold devoted a good many years of his life to his state. His passing will be a loss."

Mayor Clark Jeary of Lincoln said:

"I first new Sen. Griswold when in school. Then I served with him four sessions of the Legislature.

"He was an outstanding leader and clear in his thinking. Nebraska loses a very valuable senator and citizen.

Former Lincoln Mayor Victor E. Anderson mourned "the loss of a great public servant who made Nebraska a very fine war-time governor. His loss will be felt by everyone in the nation."

Two-Car Crash Kills Woman, 67

Bridge Collision Injures 3 Others

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—One person was killed and another critically injured Sunday night in a two-car accident on a bridge about five miles south of Grand Island on Highway 281.

Killed was Mrs Minnie Hoffman, 67, of Grand Island. Critically hurt was Mrs. Elvera Haukenberry, 49, of Hastings.

Also injured in the accident were Mrs. Leon Roy, about 39, Hastings; George Haukenberry, 52, husband of the critically injured woman; and Frank Hoffman, 72, husband of the dead woman.

Investigating officers said the second car containing the Hastings residents smashed into the rear of the Hoffman car, which had stopped at the approach to the narrow bridge to allow a car to come through.

Deputy County Attorney William Blackburn said the Hoffman car was thrown seven feet nine inches upon the bridge railing by the impact and then dropped back to the bridge floor.

The death boosted the Nebraska highway fatality toll for the year to 74 as compared to 50 at this time in 1953.

[V]accine [Te]sts To [Pr]oceed

[M]edical Society [Gi]ves Approval

[By] R. ROTHENBERGER

[Lanca]ster County's 2,000-child [polio v]accine tests were back on [the track] in line Monday. If there [are no] further red lights they [will sta]rt April 26.

[After] re-examining its co-oper[ative p]osition last week on re[q]uestioning both the safety [and] timeliness of the nation[wide tr]ials of the newly devel[oped Sa]lk vaccine, the Lancaster [Count]y Medical Society an[nounced] that it would support [the pro]gram.

Conditions

[The a]ssociation's okay carried [two c]onditions.

[One w]as that the vaccine would [not] be on hand to start the [tests no]t later than April 26.

[The oth]er rested on the assur[ance fr]om the National Polio [Foundat]ion that final tests, still [in progress], would give full safety [assuran]ce to the vaccine that is [to be u]sed here.

[Both s]eemed to be certain.

[Dr.] Marshall Neeley, presi[dent] of the Lancaster so[ciety, s]aid the foundation had no[tified co]unty health agencies that [the vac]cine would arrive April [... and w]ill not be released if final [laborato]ry tests fail to remove [all que]stions of its safety.

'Satisfactory'

[Thes]e assurances are satis[factory,]" said Dr. Neeley who [Sun]day planned to poll the [society] at a special meeting [th]is week.

[If a] meeting will not be nec[essary,]" he said.

[News] that the tests will go [ahead] was received with sat[isfaction] by Mrs. Herman [Siefkes,] president of the Lin[coln PT]A Council.

[Our] faith in the Salk vaccine [lo]ng before its safety was [question]ed by a national radio [commen]tator. The approval of [the Lan]caster County Medical [Society] further confirms our [belief in] the good that will come [from t]hese tests," she com[mented].

[Mrs.] Siefkes said the Lan[caster] PTA's will place them[selves a]t the immediate disposal [of the t]est program and will go [ahead] with their part of it.

Second Look

[While] the Lincoln plans were [halt]ed as physicians took a [second l]ook, the Douglas County [program] continued unaffected. [It will] also start approximately [April 26].

[The] charges that the vaccine [might n]ot be safe were answered [Sunda]y by Dr. Carl J. Pott[er, re]gional medical director [of the P]olio Foundation, Roches[ter, Mi]nn., who made a special [appeara]nce here before the med[ical soc]iety in a meeting that [was als]o attended by PTA and [school r]epresentatives.

[Asked] whether the safety [question] had dampened response [Mr]s. Siefkes thought not.

'Don't Believe'

[Pare]nts earnestly want pro[tection] for their children and do [not beli]eve that either Dr. Salk [or the] Polio Foundation would [use a] questionable vaccine,"

[Dr. Ca]rl A. Rogers, state direc[tor of] Public Health, also ex[pressed] pleasure over the medi[cal soci]ety's decision.

[The] vaccine will not be dis[tributed] for the Lancaster tests [until th]e foundation gives the [green li]ght," he said.

Can Cancel

[Whe]ther there proves to be [any questi]on of safety or of late[ness] such as would take the [tests in]to the polio season, we [could] cancel them," he added.

[Meant]ime preparations for the [vaccin]e testing went forward [under th]e direction of Dr. James [...] Lincoln-Lancaster public [health d]irector.

[J]ohn A. Brown, of the [...] committee of the Lan[caster] chapter of the Polio [Foundat]ion, said blood sampling [will] be conducted in the 18 clinics April 26.

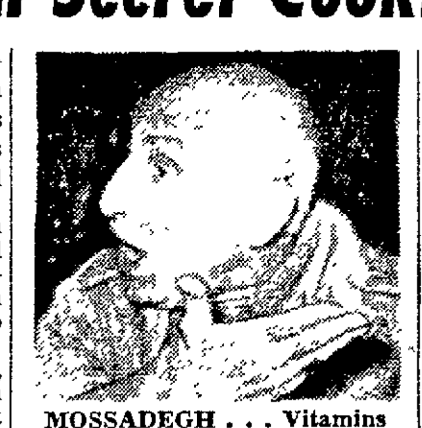

[First] shots of vaccine will be [given A]pril 27-28-29.

[S]econd shots are scheduled [Ma]y 4-5-6 and the final shots will be given June

[The] post-vaccination blood [tests] will be conducted next

Hunger Strike?

Mossadegh Secret Cookie Nibbler

MOSSADEGH . . . Vitamins

TEHERAN, Iran (AP) — Ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh maintained Sunday night he is still on a hunger strike, but his chief prosecutor has branded him a secret cookie nibbler.

Mossadegh, whose one-session boycott of the Army Appeal Court petered out when six officers fetched him from his room during the morning, appealed to the court:

"I can't stand up any longer, I'm too weak. Can I sit down and read my bill? I've not eaten."

But Brig. Gen. Hossein Azemodeh, the prosecutor told the court "he's been eating. He ate sweets last night in the darkness," later he told a reporter: "He eats cookies, chocolate, and vitamin tablets when the guards are not looking."

Mossadegh proclaimed himself on hunger strike Saturday morning. He wants a bigger audience in the courtroom and the full text of his testimony and defense bill published in the Iranian papers.

"I will continue on the hunger strike until I die," Mossadegh told the court. "Maybe in three days or at most four days I will die and you will be able to get rid of me."

The court is hearing his appeal from a sentence of three years' solitary confinement on charges that he disobeyed the Shah.

Sen. Burney Questions Liebers Group Authority

Limited Power Granted By 1953 Legislature Cited By Hartington Solon

HARTINGTON (AP) — Sen. Dwight Burney Sunday questioned the authority of the Legislative Council's tax committee to "make agreements with the governor and recommendations to the special session" under the limited power given it by the 1953 Legislature.

Sen. Burney

Burney referred to the wording of Resolution 18 which created the committee headed by Sen. O. H. Liebers of Lincoln.

"The resolution very definitely gives the authority to make a study and report to the next regular session," Burney commented at his home here.

"The public and the governor should realize the committee has only limited authority," Burney continued.

The resolution says:

"The Legislative Council (shall) appoint a committee of seven members to make a comprehensive and detailed study of the tax laws and report to the next regular session of the legislature with a sound, adequate, and equitable tax program for the state of Nebraska and its governmental subdivisions."

The next regular sessions begins in January, 1955.

Third Meeting

The Liebers Committee held its third meeting with Gov. Crosby Friday, after which it was disclosed bills are being prepared for introduction in the special session scheduled to open April 20. The governor has said he will limit the call to consideration of constitutional amendments involving taxation and revenue.

Burney said he doubts the necessity of a special session now.

"But if we're going to have one, let's do something constructive," he commented.

"We could let the people vote on whether to keep the state out of the property tax field if there should be a sales tax," he said.

But he questioned the proposal for a popular vote in November on writing a sales tax itself into the constitution.

Burney said assessors probably should be appointed rather than elected, and the make-up of the state equalization board changed.

"But as far as exempting anything, I'm not in favor of it until there is something to take its place," he said.

Gov. Crosby has recommended exemption of household goods, and partial exemption of owner-occupied homes.

The Liebers Committee has not recommended homestead exemption, however.

But any bills submitted to the Legislature next week should come from the governor rather than the study committee, in keeping with Resolution 18, Burney emphasized.

The senator suggested the question of an increased appropriation for the Safety Patrol might well be included in the call.

"I tried to give the patrol $125,000 more last session, he recalled.

He estimated that would have been enough to give the patrol ten additional uniformed men.

"If we want more, we could give it to them," he said.

"Then it wouldn't be necessary to put on all the additional men the governor is putting on," he declared.

Youth's Hand Hurt In Saw Accident

Ronald Martin, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Martin of 848 So. 23rd, received injuries to his right hand Sunday while visiting the home of his grandfather, Charles P. Stenson of Aurora.

Young Martin and his grandfather were working with a saw his father said, when the boy received the injury. The right index finger was almost completely severed, the tip of the ring finger cut off and the rest of his hand lacerated.

Martin said his son was "resting well" in a hospital in Aurora.

Special Session Call Due Today

Gov. Crosby Monday will issue a proclamation calling a special session of the Nebraska Legislature for April 20 to consider amendments to the constitution in regards to revenue and taxation.

Britain's Aid Sought By Dulles

Flies To London For Vital Parley

LONDON (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flew into London Sunday urgently seeking to win Britain to his hurry-up united action program designed to prevent Communist domination of Indo-China.

Dulles told airport reporters the Western Allies face a common danger in Indo-China and added there was need for him to talk with British leaders "in great intimacy." He heard Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, standing at his shoulder, say:

"I am confident that the work that we shall have to do together will be of service not only to each other's country but to the understanding and peace of the world."

Rift Not Hinted

The two statesmen gave no hint of the rift between Washington and the British and French allies over the timing of Dulles' proposal for an immediate "hand-off" warning to Red China.

London and Paris are set to urge Dulles to postpone any move until after the Geneva conference which opens April 26. They are in favor of first feeling out the Russians and the Chinese Reds at the foreign Ministers' Geneva confab to see if they are ready to negotiate an Indo-China settlement. Dulles has come out for a common declaration so that the West can negotiate at Geneva from a "position of strength."

Within hours of Dulles' arrival, leftwing leaders of the Labor Party opened a campaign against "the United States pushing Britain into the Indo-China War."

John Strachey, minister of war in the former Labor government, told a Labor rally the Churchill government must oppose any effort by Dulles to get "a single British man or gun being used in Indo-China."

Five Poisoned In Same Area:

Dog Wounded In Thigh

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

A dog was wounded this week end in the same neighborhood in southeast Lincoln where five dogs were recent victims of poisoning.

A gun was used this time in an attempt to kill Ginger, a Golden Retriever, owned by 10-year-old Jim Groucher of 3533 So. 16th Street.

Ginger was found shot in the thigh of a rear leg at 5:30 a.m. The dog, limping and bleeding badly, managed to return home after being shot. He was let out at 1:30 a.m. from the Groucher residence, which is a block and a half away from Nemaha.

Large Hole

The bullet left a hole large enough to put a finger through. The dog refused to eat or drink until Sunday and stayed in the dog house just outside the side door of the Groucher home.

The Grouchers first thought that the dog had got caught on some barbed wire. Later when they examined the wound it was evident that a bullet had entered and passed through the leg

Jim Jr. said that he often plays on Nemaha and his dog likes to follow him.

Mrs. Groucher said that Ginger often followed her young son to school. If the dog didn't get to follow Jim to school, she said, he sometimes sneaked to school during recess to see his young master.

Mrs. Groucher said the dog usually stays in the basement at night but since Ginger was shot, she refused to leave the dog house.

One happy note in the recent incidents was the return of Brownie, the eight-month-old Welsh Terrier, to his home at the Thomas McManus residence at 1520 Nemaha Sunday. The dog was playing excitedly with the McManus children after being poisoned only Thursday.

For precaution, the dog is tied by a long chain to the clothes line in the back yard.

The Nemaha neighborhood was buzzing with the news that another dog killing had been attempted.

One woman who lives in the neighborhood said, "I'm almost afraid to go out of the house myself."

Both Brothers Face A First Degree Count

VALENTINE, Neb. — Cherry County Attorney Brian Quigley announced Sunday night that he will file first degree murder charges against both Lloyd and Leon Gransinger.

The pair, being held in connection with the slaying of Nebraska Safety Patrolman Marvin Hansen, will be arraigned Monday afternoon.

Funeral services for the slain patrolman will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Merle Watts Funeral Home in Valentine. The American Legion will conduct rites and members of the Safety Patrol will serve as honorary pallbearers.

Social Christians Likely To Lose Belgium Control

BRUSSELS, Belgium (Monday) (AP)—Government spokesmen conceded today the Social Christians suffered a severe setback in Belgium's national elections and are likely to lose control of both houses of Parliament.

Incomplete semi-official returns showed the Social Christians under Premier Jean Van Houtte won 92 seats in the House of Representatives—a loss of 16 seats in yesterday's voting. The Socialists under former Premier Paul Henri Spaak won 91 seats—a gain of 14.

The Social Christians had only a slim majority in the old House. They held power for four years with 108 seats in a house of 212

Male Lung Cancer Rate Up 500 Per Cent In 20 Years

Scientific Causes Not Known

NEW YORK (AP) —The American Cancer Society says deaths from lung cancer in men have increased 500 per cent in the past 20 years and that "causes of this rise have not yet been demonstrated scientifically."

The society dealt with the topic in its annual report, which declared that periodic checkups against all forms of cancer could save 41,000 lives annually in the United States.

"Of the six forms of cancer on which the society is concentrating," the report said, "cancer of the lung has shown the most dramatic and challenging increase.

Mortality Hike

"In men there has been an increase in mortality in the last 20 years of 500 per cent. While the death rate in women has also increased, the major threat is to men over 45. It is estimated that male deaths from lung cancer in 1952 exceeded male deaths from tuberculosis.

"The society takes the position that the causes of this rise have not yet been demonstrated scientifically.

"Perhaps the best way to express the society's attitude is to say that some evidence places cigarette smoking on the scene of the crime but the evidence is not strong enough to convict it. Other data link air pollution to lung cancer."

Study Sponsored

The society said it was sponsoring an immense study of 204,000 men, whose smoking habits it has recorded, to see "if there is a statistical relation between lung cancer and smoking."

Further, it said, it is encouraging early diagnosis and prompt treatment, and has taken the leadership in establishing the national lung cancer committee to mobilize resources against the disease.

The report said increased emphasis on detecting "silent cancer"—cancer without any apparent symptom—was a major development in 1953. That is the stage when cancer is usually most curable, the report said.

Plucky Suzan Ball Throws Away Crutches For Wedding

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) Black-haired Suzan Ball threw away her crutches Sunday and walked down the aisle for her wedding as she always vowed she would.

The 21-year-old actress, easily one of the year's most beautiful brides, came to El Montecito Presbyterian Church on crutches but left them in an anteroom. She used a new artificial leg, on which she had not yet finished training, for her marriage to Actor Richard Long.

If the wedding was a physical ordeal for the pretty actress, she gave no visible indication of it. She smilingly faced a battery of photographers after the 10 minute double-ring ceremony, received the 200 invited guests one by one and then walked back down the aisle of the tiny church to pose at the altar for photographers.

Crowd Cheers

The crowd, estimated by police at nearly 1,000, cheered the plucky actress and her groom as they left the church for a private wedding dinner. They plan a leisurely wedding trip in Northern California.

"I feel just wonderful and so happy," the smiling bride told reporters after the rites.

Her gown, designed by Universal International Stylist Bill Thomas, was a gorgeous floor-length creation of rosepoint lace imported from France. Seamless, it was worn over ruffled petticoats of pale pink chiffon and a deep peach stain underslip.

For her traditional something borrowed, something blue, she carried a hanky from her favorite wardrobe mistress and tied a blue ribbon in her petticoat.

Her walk down the aisle was steady, firm, with but a slight trace of limp. Suzan's right leg was amputated Jan. 12 after a year-long battle with cancer.

GOP Head Expects Ike To Run In '56

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee said Sunday he expects President Eisenhower to be a candidate again in 1956.

"I certainly think so," he replied to a radio-TV questioner (NBC's Youth Wants to Know) who asked whether he thought Eisenhower's name would be on the ballot in 1956. He did not elaborate, and was not questioned further on the point.

Eisenhower himself has declined to discuss his future political plans, dismissing many such questions with the comment that his political advisers have suggested he say nothing about them now.

News Around The Globe

'C-Bomb Not Feasible Arm'

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A top defense official says a powerful destructive cobalt bomb is a scientific possibility, but is not feasible as a weapon. Donald A. Quarles, assistant secretary of defense for research and development, agreed with news commentator Martin Agronsky that it could be a "suicide bomb." Agronsky said the bomb's death-dealing radioactive particles could "come back and murder those who set it off."

Quarles said that the much-talked-of bomb "doesn't even meet the fundamental definition of what a good weapon is." Such a weapon, he said, must destroy the enemy without damaging those who use it.

Asked if American scientists were working to develop a C-Bomb, Quarles said "I know of no scientist or military man who thinks that this would be a good weapon."

Spending Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has decided to spend every last cent of about 165 million dollars it has for economic aid in the Middle East, with allocations to Israel and the Arab states on an even-steven basis. Iran, a Moslem nation, is getting the lion's share—about 74 million—of the funds for the fiscal year ending June 30. The remainder will go 50-50 to the Arab nations and Israel.

Hydrogen Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Cole (R-NY) of the Congressional Joint Atomic Energy Committee says he believes the government is doing "everything possible" to prepare the nation against the possibility of hydrogen warfare. He added: "I am at a loss to know just what facts the people need or what they would do if they had them." Cole participated in a television panel with Sens. Burke (D-O), Anderson (D-NM) and Duff (R-Pa).

Dulles Rapped

MOSCOW Monday (AP)—Pravda denounced Secretary of State Dulles' mission to Europe and declared "no threats by imperialists will be able to stop the just national liberation struggle in colonial countries," including Indo-China. The Communist Party newspaper declared Dulles' call for "united action" in Indo-China was only a cover for "extending the war."

TALLASSEE, Ala. (AP)—A 48-year-old mother scribbled a suicide note in her automobile Sunday and then killed herself by ramming full-speed into a tree at a churchyard, Coroner Raymond Henderson said.

Highway Patrolman J. C. Coan said the note was scribbled on a notebook found in the wrecked automobile.

Henderson, who gave no explanation for the woman's action, said she is survived by her husband and four children.

Special Session Call Scheduled For Today

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Robert Crosby Monday will issue the proclamation calling a special session of the Legislature for April 20 to consider amendments to the Constitution dealing with revenue and taxation. He agreed last week with members of the Legislative Council Committee on taxes to confine the call to that subject.

During the week before the lawmakers assemble much work remains to be done by the governor, committeemen senators and attorneys. They will have to decide on the wording of the amendments the Legislature will be asked to put on the ballot for submission to the voters.

Two of the six amendments are expected to prove particularly difficult to prepare for recommendation to the Legislature.

Complications

How to submit the sales tax proposal to the voters and insure that it will be a replacement rather than a new tax, on which the committee was unanimous, offers complications.

Basing their estimates on figures of Sen. Dwight Burney, who offered a 2 per cent sales tax at the last session, the committee found that such a tax could replace all state property taxes with the possible exception of the tax for care of mentally ill, which varies from county to county, depending on the number of patients hospitalized.

This could block plans to offer a sales tax as a replacement for all state property levies.

While the committee decided against offering a proposal for a state income tax, individual members could submit such an amendment for consideration unless the proclamation of the governor is more restrictive than he indicated it would be.

Many members of the Legislature have expressed opposition to a sales tax that does not replace all state property levies. They object to leaving any loophole by which property levies for state purposes could later be imposed. The method of taxing railroads and utilities will also have to be solved.

The other proposal that is offering difficulties is one to permit taxing of different classes of property by different methods. A fear exists that it will result in pressure groups seeking special advantages for different groups of taxpayers.

In turn, it is argued that in Kansas such a plan has proved highly successful and others point out that Minnesota encountered difficulties.

Examples of what the committee seeks to accomplish are providing that merchandise stocks be assessed on an average inventory basis rather than the goods on hand on a specified day. Some stocks lend themselves to reduction of inventory at tax time more than others.

Assessment of grains is also difficult under the present inflexible provision for uniformity with some elevators being able to move out grains before the assessment date while storage elevators would be taxed on all grain on hand.

It appears certain that many changes will be advocated during the session regardless of what form the committee suggests in the bills it recommends.

Courtship Hazardous

PALMYRA, Mo. (AP) — James Samuel Feger of Mexico, Mo., pulled up to the side of the highway and asked his girl friend to marry him. But Deputy Sheriff George Vest strode up and reminded Feger he should pull farther off the road. Then another car smacked Feger's auto. He was arrested and charged with improper parking. But, the report said triumphantly, the girl murmured yes.

Crop Supports Issue Climax Seen Near

WASHINGTON (AP)—The simmering issue of farm price supports may come to a boil in the Senate this week.

With Congress sharply split over the Eisenhower program of non-rigid supports, Senate leaders called up a wool price bill which could provide a test on the basic question of flexible vs. rigid farm price props.

Although neither the House nor the Senate Agriculture Committee has agreed on a general farm bill, many senators have drafted amendments to the wool bill which would variously change the present farm law to:

1. Continue the present program of mandatory price supports at 90 per cent of parity.

2. Continue the present program for a limited period, say for one year, subject to future revision after a special commission has studied the problem.

3. Raise the support levels for dairy products, which were dropped April 1 from 90 per cent to the legal minimum of 75 per cent of parity.

Parity is a legal formula designed to assure farmers an equitable return for their products.

Under the 1949 Agricultural Act, mandatory price supports at 90 per cent of parity expire this year. President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson have proposed a program of graduated supports, aimed at discouraging overproduction in times of abundance and encouraging full production in times of scarcity.

Senate leaders hope to head off a showdown by appealing to their colleagues to wait for a regular farm bill.

The wool bill is a part of the administration's farm program, but it is being handled separately from such basic crops as cotton, corn, wheat and peanuts.

Fund Drive Brings New Band Outfits

HARVARD, Neb. — A fund-raising campaign by a group of mothers has resulted in bright new uniforms for members of the Harvard School Band.

Although the band members and the school board assisted in raising funds, the bulk of the necessary amount was raised by the band mothers' club. Mrs. Della Keasling was chairman of the drive.

The fund campaign included card parties and 'concession stands at basketball and football games. The band members raised money by picking up corn and selling magazine subscriptions. The cost of the red and gray uniforms was $1,850, and all but $350 was raised by the mothers and band members. The school board furnished the balance.

Blacksmith Dies On Farm Of Birth

HOWELLS, Neb. (AP)— Rudolph M. Fiala, about 60, of Crete, was found dead Sunday in a car parked on the farm where he was born.

Sheriff Ed Ptak of Schuyler said a hole had been cut in the floor boards of the car and that Fiala had died of asphyxiation from carbon monoxide fumes.

Investigation showed that the car was seen for the first time Friday afternoon, parked off Highway 91, on an abandoned farm, owned by Harry May, 2 miles west and ¼ mile south of here.

The sheriff said he was notified of the presence of the car Sunday morning, investigated and found the body. Fiala was a Crete blacksmith and carpenter.

Non-Factory Employment Figure Up

Nebraska's manufacturing employment—sensitive to business conditions—dropped 2 1 per cent in January, but non-manufacturing employment edged slightly higher for a 0 8 per cent gain

In releasing the figures, the April issue of Business in Nebraska, a monthly bulletin prepared by the University of Nebraska Department of Business Research, College of Business Administration, said.

"The fact that the non-manufacturing figures are not dropping is still a good sign," the bulletin said

The indexes show that "Nebraska business and employment are still on a high level with, except for manufacturing, no real sign of recession yet appearing"

For the past six years, non-manufacturing employment has maintained an almost-steady rise, now standing 15 5 per cent higher than the 1948 average.

Manufacturing employment figures are 21.3 per cent higher than the 1948 position, but have had more ups and downs "They took a considerable rise during 1950 and 1951, went on to a new height in the spring of 1953 (25 per cent higher than 1948) and since then have slipped back, except for an upturn in the autumn of 1953"

Meanwhile, the physical volume of business, of which employment figures are an integral part, had about the same rise, but it occurred a year earlier than the rise in employment "In 1951 general business dropped a bit and when it resumed its rise, it was by this time actually following manufacturing employment instead of in the lead."

Honest Junkman Returns $1,425 In Cash To Minister

ARLINGTON, Neb.—An honest junk dealer and some assorted detective work has resulted in the return of a large amount of cash to a former Arlington minister

The cash—$1,425—was found in a diary which was hidden in an old stove being dismantled by a junk dealer in California The dealer notified the Salvation Army which started the check to track down the owner of the money. The diary bore the name of Rev. Thomas Davies, former minister here.

The Salvation Army in Nebraska and Floyd Loftis, Salvation Army chairman here managed to trace down Rev. Davies through some correspondence. Rev. WHAT A PITY
THAT THOUSANDS OF AMERICANS
CHOOSE TO REMAIN BEHIND AN IRON CURTAIN!

"What fools these mortals be!" is about as far as we dare go, in public print, to express what friends and associates say and think of those hard-of-hearing people who believe they are fooling others or concealing their deafness by not wearing a hearing aid.

We're referring to the men and women who, knowingly and stubbornly, remain behind the iron curtain of vanity...the vanity that causes their friends to shun them, places their jobs in jeopardy, endangers their lives and the lives of others because they miss warning sounds while driving autos and crossing streets.

What a pity...when a Zenith Hearing Aid would instantly lift that iron curtain, instantly open up a fuller, more secure, more successful life.

Zenith has lowered the cost of hearing so that anyone can now afford a hearing aid.

Zenith users...including doctors, physicists, scientists, men and women in all walks of life...are people who know how wonderful it is when the iron curtain goes up. They've done something for themselves. They've stopped the needless ruin and risk of their lives. And... they've stopped being a burden and a menace to others.

You may know a Zenith-user. Chances are you do, because there are hundreds of thousands of them. Ask him about Zenith quality, value, dependability. He'll tell you that he prefers Zenith to any other hearing aid at any price.

Here's why Zenith's "Royal-T" Hearing Aid is outselling all others:

The "Royal-T" gives greater-than-ever clarity... new depth and realism. Simple fingertip controls give instant, individual adjustment of tone and volume no matter where you are... under varying acoustic conditions.

No tubes. Greater convenience. Only one battery-change a month... one small 15¢ battery lasts 30 days or more. Compare this to operating-costs of $4.50 to $9.00 a month for vacuum-tube hearing aids.

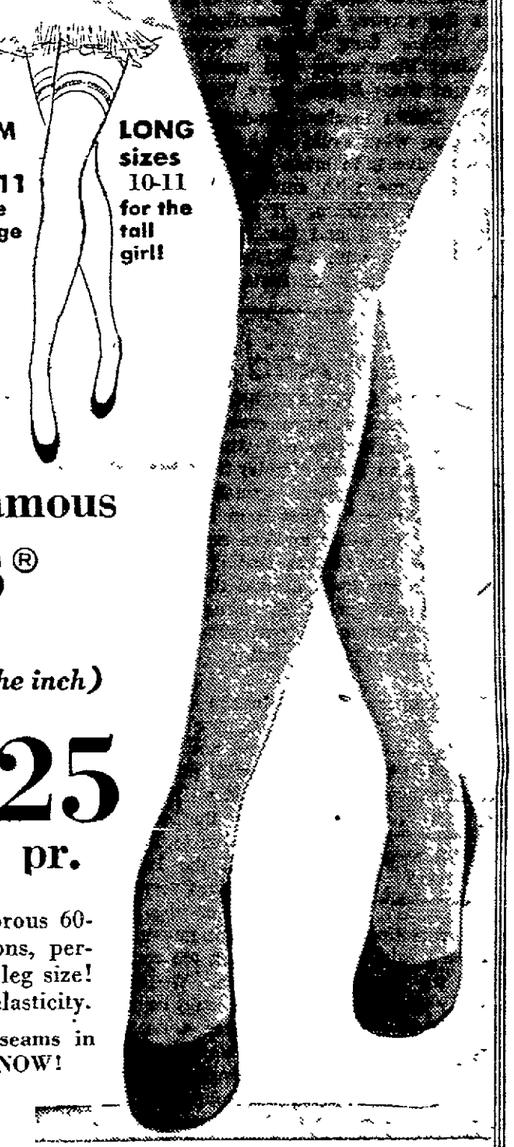

The Zenith "Royal-T" sells for only $125. If it does not outperform any other hearing aid at any price, simply return the aid within ten days and your money will be refunded promptly. Zenith Dealers have a remarkable Easy-Payment Plan available...your battery savings will cover a considerable portion of your monthly payments.

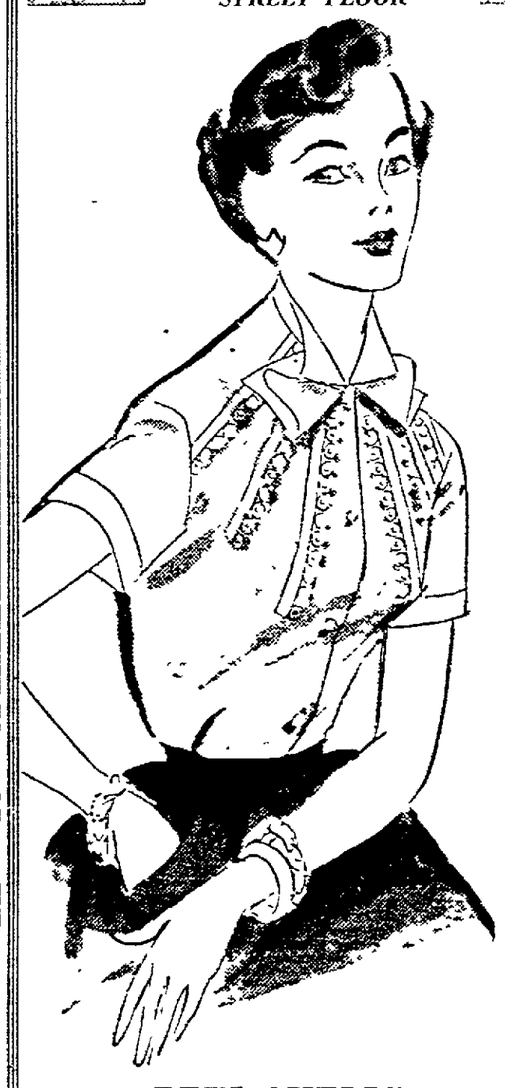

See telephone directory for nearest Zenith Hearing Aid dealer or write for literature and local dealer list: Zenith Radio Corp., Dept. DN8B, 5801 Dickens Avenue, Chicago 39, Ill.

In The Line Of Duty

Those who accept responsibility for law enforcement assume a calculated risk to which attention rarely is directed.

Within the last year, it was pointed out in connection with the manhunt which developed after the fatal shooting of State Trooper Marvin Hansen near Valentine, that three members of the Nebraska State Safety Patrol had died while in service in "the line of duty." Two of the three state troopers lost their lives after having been wounded in gun fire. A third died as the result of an automobile accident.

The man who wears the badge has his work cut out for him and that work carries with it an element of danger every hour of the day. In this state the Safety Patrol has performed an outstanding job in law enforcement, and at a sacrifice of the personnel of the agency.

Plenty Of Talent

Roscoe Fleming, writing in the Denver Post, suggests that Colorado Democrats have plenty of talent to fill the shoes vacated by Senator Ed Johnson, who has decided he will not be a candidate for re-election.

Fleming lists former Congressman John Carroll, former Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan and Rep. Wayne Aspinall as potential party nominees. Any one of the three, he said, would be a first class senator.

We know Mr. Carroll only by reputation, the reputation of a real two-fisted fighter who did an outstanding job in the House of Representatives back in Washington. We know Mr. Brannan casually, and should he decide to get into the battle, and his party accept him as its candidate, Coloradoans are apt to witness one of the most aggressive, interesting campaigns in many a year.

We know Rep. Wayne Aspinall.

Nebraskans have a kindly feeling toward Senator Ed Johnson, now retiring from Washington, because Johnson attended the University of Nebraska and has always maintained his associations with the institution. Wayne Aspinall could claim kinship to Nebraska people. His wife was born and reared in Lincoln.

Mr. Aspinall could be depended upon to give any Republican candidate in Colorado, including Governor Thornton, a real run for his money in the event that the Democrats select Mr. Aspinall as their standard bearer. He is one of the most competent men in Congress today, quiet and hard-working, a razor-sharp mind, and a real representative of the West. With this abundance of material Colorado Democrats expect to retain the seat in the Senate which they now hold.

These Next Ninety Days

These next ninety days should give Americans the answer to international anxieties with which their chosen representatives, President Eisenhower and under him Secretary of State Dulles, have been dealing.

Mr. Dulles reached London Sunday afternoon on what could be a fateful mission. His objective is to bring Britain and France back into line with current American administrative thinking. It is no secret that both the British and the French have become irritated with the latest moves initiated by Secretary of State Dulles. After seven years of punishing warfare in the treacherous Indo-China jungles the French are weary — sufficiently weary to welcome an end to the fighting. France is not too squeamish in its desire to pull out of Indo-China, to accept a loss of face. There is no fighting on the soil of the Western Defense Community. That is contained to the Far East. But the two are inseparable, with the French interests in Indo-China — and with Secretary Dulles' frantic attempts in recent weeks to what he considers the grave, imminent danger of a sweep of Communism engulfing Indo-China, and in his judgment endangering the slender, delicate hold which the Western world has in Thailand, Burma and Malaya.

The fighting in Indo-China in terms of mass attack may take care of itself any day now until next fall with the coming of the monsoon season. That, however, fails to allay the mounting apprehension and the growing antagonism in both France and Britain to American foreign policy.

The resentment in Britain is based upon a different reaction than that in France. British criticism of America is inspired by the feeling of faulty communications between two allies. The British are critical, and there is some basis for it, over the fact that major decisions affecting mutual policies and some actual actions taken under those decisions have not been discussed in advance. The British have the feeling of having been left out in the cold while the United States has chosen to go it alone.

In France it is a spirit of frustration and extreme weariness with a war that involves a constantly increasing drain on the French strength that has produced a conviction that the war must be brought to a close at any cost, even bargaining with Red China.

This is the gamble which Mr. Dulles has been taking—a big gamble—which may or may not pay off. In any event the American people may be assured that the next ninety days should clear the atmosphere. They, at least, will know what is immediately ahead.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Nothing seems more certain than that the special legislative call which Gov. Bob Crosby was to issue Monday will limit the business of the special session to the so-called "tax mess." That is as it should be. There may be other matters crying for attention but the fact is that if the Legislature is to get itself around the issues inspired by widespread discontent with the present tax pattern, it will have its hands full, perhaps more than full.

The temper of the Nebraska Legislative Council Sub-committee handling the tax matter was very clear. It did not want the special session cluttered up with other matters. It shouted down any and all proposals to broaden the scope of the call. Nor is it surprising that the legislators themselves feel that the people of the state should vote upon an amendment paving the way for a sales tax. It is much too controversial for any other approach. We doubt seriously that any Legislature would be willing to assume responsibility for a decision on a sales tax. It has been up for consideration in the last three regular sessions. Each time the Legislature dropped a proposal for a sales tax quicker than its members would drop a hot potato. There were enough votes to bring the measure to the floor for a vote, but never enough votes for approval. And we also seriously doubt that either of the two major parties will get any happiness out of the knowledge it may become necessary for the parties to take a position upon the sales tax. It is an issue that invites candidates and parties to play safe and to duck behind any shelter they can find.

Is It Now or Never?

We assume that the legislative committee which has been making a study of taxation has accumulated a great deal of information for the information of the people before they vote. Otherwise, it will be merely a matter of the individual expression of prejudice, one way or another, and since taxes are never popular, we assume that the traditional opposition to a broadened tax base will assert itself.

It has been suggested that the way out of present difficulties is to cut down on spending. Certainly economy and frugality should be practiced at all times in connection with the tax dollar, and more particularly in times of money stringency. A sound, farsighted handling of the purse strings always is desirable. But a reduction in state expenditures, desirable as it could be at times, is not always the full answer to Nebraska's present headache. There is no assurance that any economies effected in the field of state government necessarily will be reflected in the individual tax bill. What is cut off at the top may be added on and more than added on at the bottom by other political subdivisions. That is what has been happening in some sections of the state. State government has taken a beating for some of the bitterness which is mounting and which in time may express itself as a taxpayers' rebellion against the load which the individual property owner is discovering is more difficult to bear. All the way along the line costs have continued to mount in recent years, so that a saving in one political subdivision is not an iron-clad guarantee that the savings will ever reach those who pay the bills.

How Much or How Little To Spend

On the brighter side there is the prospect at least that months of discussion will acquaint the people of Nebraska with the problem which faces them. We trust that whatever decisions are reached can lead to subsequent discussions conducted in the finest spirit of high controversy.

Ike's Faux Pas

We didn't know it but have been told that President Eisenhower did an unstatesmanlike thing the other night when he addressed the nation over television. He didn't face the viewers at the outset. Instead he looked off in space.

It really wasn't his fault. He hadn't been properly briefed. He mistook a red light as the signal indicating the live camera. So he looked at it while he talked.

While this breach is causing a good deal of hush-hush talk, we still think that what he said was far more important than which way he looked while he said it. And we hope that the future will not eliminate facts and realities if they are handed to us by someone who has failed to assume the proper stage posture.

As far as we are concerned, any time Mr. Eisenhower, or anyone else happens to have one of those rare bits of good and comforting news, he can deliver it standing on his head or galloping by on a wild horse and we won't complain a bit.

Well, What D'ya Know

The more dignified wing of the Republican party says it is isolating Sen. Joe McCarthy. At the same time it is sending him into Nebraska for the GOP pre-primary convention at Fremont. If that's isolation, then we are prompted to ask, "What does the national GOP think Nebraska is—the Dry Tortugas?"

Party Heads Startled By Indo-China Plans

WASHINGTON — How near the United States has been to full-scale intervention, or even war in Indo-China, was emphasized at a secret meeting between Secretary of State Dulles and Adm. Arthur Radford with top congressional leaders of both political parties.

At the conference, the two administration leaders proposed two moves which startled Republican congressmen as much as the Democrats. The two moves were:

1. By Admiral Radford—to send four airplane carriers from the Philippines to lie off the Indo-Chinese coast and bomb the Reds; also to use long-range bombers based on the Philippines to blast Red supply lines and munitions bases.

2. By Secretary Dulles — Adoption of a joint resolution by Congress to give the President blanket authority to do anything he deemed advisable to prevent Indo-China from going Communist.

Justification for these two drastic proposals was based upon the stark seriousness of the allied position in Indo-China, where it is feared part of the French forces may be annihilated and where it's feared the rest of the French forces may pull out.

Admiral Radford was not hopeful about the fortress of Dien Bien Phu. He reported that Communist antiaircraft batteries were deadly accurate and were shooting down most of French and American planes flying lower than 11,000 feet.

Also the fort is so small that it is difficult to parachute supplies into such a small perimeter with any degree of accuracy, and much of the parachuted supplies fall outside the fortress into Communist hands.

ANOTHER KOREA??

Democratic reaction to the Dulles-Radford request for congressional support for possible war in Indo-China was summed up by Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader.

"Time after time I have had to listen to my Republican colleague," he said, looking at GOP leader William Knowland of California, "tell us about the Korean war and how it started under the Democrats. Now it appears we are faced with another Korea."

"Yes, and we have had to listen to the Republicans call us the party of treason," added Congressman John McCormack of Boston. "Our patriotism was impugned at a time when we all should have been united against Communism instead of fighting and condemning each other. I doubt therefore if it would be very easy to get many Democrats to vote for this resolution."

Senator Russell of Georgia, another Democrat, was critical of the fact that the British and our other western allies had not yet been consulted about cooperating with us.

"Do you mean to say that you are asking Congress for such broad authority without an agreement from the French and British that they will join with us?" Russell asked in brief.

Knowland of California, Republican leader of the Senate, was equally skeptical. He was just as emphatic as the Democrats that Congress must be advised on how far our allies are willing to go before any blanket resolution was even submitted to Congress.

FRENCH LOSING HEART

Secretary Dulles brought out the fact that the French were offering more independence today to the three Indo-Chinese states than those same states had requested five years ago when they asked for commonwealth status. However, the three states are now demanding complete independence which is more than the French are willing to give and still stay in the fight. On the other hand, the three states can hardly settle for less than complete independence as long as Ho Chi Minh is offering complete "independence" under the Red banner.

Dulles mentioned in passing that the governments of the three independent states were unstable. Radford pointed out that if his plan for immediate intervention were adopted we would go into Indo-China at the invitation, and with the cooperation of, the three independent states.

Admiral Radford, summarizing the military situation, said that the French had lost heart for the war. He made it clear he did not favor sending American ground troops into Indo-China, only U.S. air and naval forces. They could be pulled out in a hurry.

Asked by Sen. Clements of Kentucky whether other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff concurred in Radford's ideas of using bombers and carriers, Radford admitted frankly that they didn't. It developed that all three Joint Chiefs of Staff were opposed to immediate intervention.

Several of the Democrats reminded Dulles and Radford that President Truman had got a united recommendation from the Joint Chiefs of Staff regarding Korea and then had assumed responsibility. He did not ask for a blank check from Congress first.

CHIANG'S TROOPS?

Congressman Percy Priest of Tennessee wanted to know why Chiang Kai Shek's troops were not brought to Indo-China from Formosa, especially since the Republicans, during and before the election campaign, had made such an issue of using Chiang's troops.

But Admiral Radford, who was among those who previously advocated the use of Chiang's forces, said that if Chiang's troops were removed from Formosa, it would be necessary for the United States to protect Formosa.

The question was also raised about President Syngman Rhee's offer to send one division of South Korean troops, but Radford flatly stated that Korean troops were needed at home.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Mrs. Luce Used As Prime Target By Italy's Reds

ROME. — U. S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce, almost from the first day of her arrival here a year ago, has been the target of the Communist apparatus with its numerous and skillful propaganda organs. It has been a merciless, unrelenting attack carried on in newspapers and in wall posters, distorting and maligning everything that she has said and done. Palmiro Togliatti, Moscow-trained boss of the Communist party, said on the floor of the parliament that she had the "evil eye," putting a curse on everything she came near.

Disagreeable as it is from day to day and week to week, the Communist drumfire can be discounted and maybe even ignored. But the subtle undercover opposition of the industrialists is something else again. It is part of the dubious political balance on which the government of Prime Minister Mario Scelba is uncertainly poised.

Ambassador Luce tells the government and the industrialists that she cannot approve placing contracts in plants where the unions have a Communist majority. She must try to place the work in factories dominated by non-Communist unions. In some categories of work that is difficult or impossible. But, even so, Mrs. Luce points out that she could never defend before a committee of Congress the awarding of a contract for military work in which Communist shop stewards have so much authority, with access to all information.

The industrialists reply that most Communist workers are not real Communists, anyway. Furthermore, they argue that the effort to exclude big plants with Communist unions is bound to create more unemployment, and unemployment makes real Communists.

Ambassador Luce is also trying to persuade the Scelba government to enforce another provision of the Offshore Aid Act, which provides that the benefits of American spending be shared as widely as possible through every segment of the economy. Unfortunately, very few specific conditions were laid down in connection with the spending of the nearly three and a half billion dollars in aid.

As a result it was almost literally true that the rich got richer and if the poor didn't get poorer at least their position was little improved. Since the rich have up until now paid almost no taxes it has meant the perpetuation of the basic injustice of a more or less feudal system in the midst of an advanced technology. It goes without saying that this has meant a heaven-sent opportunity for the Communists.

Some of these things Mrs. Luce said privately when she visited America in January. What she was trying to do was to alert people back home to the dangers here. Some of her critics have said that this was not the function of an ambassador. But it did bring an awareness of the situation in Italy whereas the conflicts in France that have now come to the surface were apparently never reported to Washington.

The ambassador's remarks, as printed in garbled form here, have also increased the tension between the embassy and the government. There is even a growing tendency to blame America—America is blamed for everything—for Italy's Communism. Former Premier Alcide DeGasperi, who is considered the real power behind the present government, recently suggested in an article that the "climate of the Roosevelt administration" at the end of the war made it possible for Communists to gain power in Italy under American occupying authorities.

Others go further and accuse Americans of deliberately putting Communists in important offices. This charge is made against Allen Dulles, now head of CIA and the wartime director of OSS in Switzerland, who is accused of having made a deal with the Germans under which in most of Italy's Communists active in the resistance movement were given offices from which they have never been dislodged.

This may be merely a symptom of the need to find a scapegoat for so much that is wrong. Undeniably, the balance is delicate. If it is upset from either the extreme left or the extreme right, this ancient land that has suffered so much will be in for more trouble—and serious trouble.

BILL DOBLER At City Hall

New Department Of Welfare, Safety

There will be an ordinance before the City Council for third reading and final approval Monday to transfer the parks and recreation departments and bring the two groups closer together in organization.

Bill Dobler

Specifically, the ordinance transfers the two departments from the department of parks, public property and improvements (the engineering department) to the department of welfare and safety. They thus go from the jurisdiction of City Engineer D. L. Erickson to Emmett Junge, the city's new welfare and safety director.

Under Erickson, parks and recreation did not flourish. There has been a shortage of funds to hinder their advancement and Erickson has not been able to give them the direct attention or guidance they needed. The two departments were sandwiched somewhere in among the street, sewer, paving repair, water and light and engineering departments.

It is hoped that in the welfare and safety department, parks and recreation will receive more of the help from its director that was lacking before.

The change will be a real challenge for Junge and an opportunity to perform a real service for the city.

In another section, the ordinance replaced the new separate parks and recreation boards with one single board. This is another move that should be a shot in the arm for the two departments.

The two departments have many overlapping functions in connection with the operation of parks and recreation. Each is an integral part of the other in many respects so the combination of the boards is a logical development.

This development could bring about a new interest in parks and recreation that would be extremely advantageous. True, neither of the departments will have much, if any, more money to spend than before but there can now be better and more co-ordinated planning for spending of what funds there are.

Appropriated for the parks this year was $216,883 and for recreation $78,381. In addition, the Council approved a budget of $62,753 for the Pioneers golf operation and $18,250 for the municipal swimming pool, both self-sustaining public service enterprises.

That means the new joint parks and recreation board would have a total of $376,257 to work with this year had it been in existence last September. While most of the funds go for routine maintenance, there may be an opportunity for the new board to effect some changes which would mean a savings.

Picked up with the right enthusiasm, this new operation could mark the beginning of a new era in the beautification and development of Lincoln parks and the expansion of its recreation program.

Looking at the cold facts which determine either the growth or stagnation of a community, the acquisition by the Nebraska National Guard of a tract of park property on North 10th was a fine thing. Plus the construction of a modern, up-to-date armory, the acquisition means the guard will be able to improve and expand its training program, all for the betterment of the city of Lincoln.

But looking beyond those facts to some of the previous uses of the land involved leaves a few questions. This will probably be the last summer the youngsters in the North 10th neighborhood have an opportunity to play baseball on the now empty lot. It means the swings and sliding boards now located there will have to be moved elsewhere.

Where the kids will go for baseball after the armory is constructed is unknown. Also, the possibility of developing the tract into a fine recreation center in co-operation with the University of Nebraska is now surely gone.

The area has always been classed in the records as undeveloped but that classification failed to tell the whole story. It may not be a major problem but it shows all too clearly why the existing park board has always held out, with relentless determination, against the disposal of any park property.

The board has never been known to let go of any property without receiving in return an equal amount of land of equivalent value or a cash payment which would enable it to purchase more land. In this case, it received cash but it is doubtful if it can find a replacement in the same area for the land the city is losing.

With its hold-tight land policy, the board in the past has been pressured many times to relent but has not yielded. For this, the people of Lincoln should be thankful and hopeful that the policy never changes.

POSTCARD

By STAN DELAPLANE

"When you are on a long journey with horses or oxen, let them rest on Sunday. For they will gain through the week all they lose by resting on Sunday."

So my great-grandfather wrote when he was crossing the plains to dig gold in California.

Having run fresh out of oxen, I do my best by resting myself. This is very difficult at this time of the year. It is jacks season.

It appears that the silent rubber ball has been lost. But we are getting along with a ping-pong ball.

"Clickety-click." There is a rattle of jacks like birdshot on the floor.

"No overs! I said no over!"

"Ladies, ladies," I cry through the wall. "This is a day of rest."

"Did we wake you," daddy?"

No, my dears. I love to get up at 7 of a Sunday morning. Rest your horses and oxen. But parents must bounce like a ping-pong ball. Clickety-click.

I don't seem to remember my legs crackling like that before. Well, no matter. We will get the Sunday papers and study the dreadful tidings of the world. Snug beneath the blankets.

How is it that Sunday papers disintegrate? While small girls strip off the outside comics. How do they manage to get the news section in the bathtub? I intend to make a scientific study of this some day. Some other day.

When I was a youth of 10, we had a few chapters of the Old Testament after breakfast. This was a warmup for church. It was a serious time and no playing.

I am driving a household of young ladies to church this morning. Was a time when I was given a good deal of attention on such drives. Recounting my experiences among the the Sioux.

But 10 is self-assured and older than 8. It is sort of admitted that I had a little help when I was winning the war single-handed.

I am a chauffeur for a pair of cupcakes in white gloves and Navy blue coats. I tell some pretty interesting tales.

"Give them a whiff of grape!" I said. "Well, the captain was white as paste. But I . . ."

Nobody pays much attention to an old soldier these days.

When I was a boy I kept my ears open. And learned a good deal. Some scientists had said the whale could not have swallowed Jonah. For a whale had a mighty small mouth for a whale.

My great-grandpa said had the scientists ever seen a whale try to swallow a man. You could see some mighty peculiar things if you kept a sharp lookout. Take 1850 in the Sacramento Valley.

"I never fully understood Samson's lion and honey story. Until I saw the skeleton of an ox that had sunk into the earth when it was soft and flooded in '49 and could not get out and so starved to death.

"The hide with the hair on was still all along the back enclosing the skeleton. It made a waterproof roof and bees could have deposited honey as I suppose they did in the lion that Samson rent asunder. 'Out of the eater came forth meat and out of the strong came forth sweetness.'

"But I had rather eat honey made in pound sections," he said.

Well, everybody is delivered at Sunday School. If anybody has any questions about Jonah and the whale or Samson and the lion, I have some answers ready.

That is what comes of keeping my ears open and my powder dry in my youth. Advice I would pass along to chatty little jacks players.

Meantime, I think I should rest the horses and oxen.

Sunday morning.

Cutting Spending

Lincoln, Neb.

To the Editor of The Lincoln Star: Victor Anderson, who aspires to be governor of Nebraska, says if we are to cut taxes, we must cut spending. That is a good motto. But it can't be done with the present membership of the legislature.

With the exception of about seven members of the present legislature, most all of them voted for every spending bill that came up.

Governor Crosby submitted a reorganization plan for the state and recommended a reduction of the $7½ million for the two years now serving below Peterson's proposals. The legislature turned down every one of his recommendations and through that medium the governor's hands were tied in cutting expenses.

Unless the membership is changed, don't look for any reduction in taxes and expenditures. The governor's program would have worked out well along the line.

Peace With Freedom

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In regard to President Eisenhower's speeches, it seems to me that the religious vein that invariably is brought into these speeches is not conducive to unity, freedom, peace or even fairness. No one will deny the President his personal right to any religious belief but the prestige of the office of President should not be used either directly or indirectly to further such belief, for to do so violates the basic principle on which our government is founded. A politician who intentionally or unintentionally appeals to religious prejudice or a person who permits his political actions to be swayed by religious appeal ill serves both his religion and country. Our freedoms depend on our government's being free from religious influence.

Sooner or later representatives of our country, Russia, China and others will sit at the peace table. And the position of our government should not be prejudiced by our officials' referring to "atheist Russia" as a low form of animal life because she is "atheistic." Our government should be able to look with the same dispassion upon "atheist Russia" and China as Catholic Spain or Protestant England with only one end in view, peace with freedom.

RALPH E. ALLEN

Editor's note: The editor cannot agree with the view Mr. Allen sets forth. The President is to be commended for appealing to the spiritual impulses of the American people.

Bride At Afternoon Wedding

The chancel of First Lutheran Church was lighted by cathedral candles, and appointed with arrangements of white and pink spring blossoms placed against a background of woodwardia for the Sunday afternoon, April 11, wedding of Miss Lois Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Anderson, and Paul Laase, son of Dr. and Mrs. Leroy T. Laase. The Rev. J. Sabin Swenson read the lines of the 3 o'clock service.

As a prelude of organ music was presented by Miss Marilyn Anderson, Miss Lou Lingren and Miss Lee Lingren lighted the candles. Miss Anderson also played the wedding music and accompanied Robert Hunter who sang "The Lord's Prayer", "Because", and "I Love You Truly".

Miss Helen Anderson was her sister's maid of honor and appeared in a danseuse-length frock of petal pink tulle. A tiny jacket of tulle covered the strapless bodice, and the skirt was caught into fullness beneath a snug midriff of taffeta looped into soft folds at one side. Her braided headband was of frock-toned tulle and she carried a bouquet of aqua-tinted carnations. Costumed identically in aqua tulle and taffeta and carrying pink carnations were the bridesmaids, Miss Joyce Laase, Miss Jane Laase and Miss Sally Laase, and the junior bridesmaid, Miss Nancy Laase, all sisters of the bridegroom.

Jack Rogers served Mr. Laase as best man, and seating the guests were David Knapp, Wayne Johnson and Dale Johnson of Lincoln, and Frank Evans of Wisner.

MRS. PAUL LAASE

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. Long, fitted sleeves and a winged collar accented the lace basque, which was snugly closed down the back by small lace-covered buttons, and the wide skirt was completed by a front panel of minutely-pleated tulle. Her silk illusion veil was held by a pearl-trimmed cap of lace and tulle, and she carried a crescent of white carnations and camellias.

Following the reception, held in the church parlors, Mr. and Mrs. Laase left for a wedding trip to Denver, Colo. They will make their home in Lincoln where the bridegroom, a member of Theta Xi fraternity, is completing his studies at the University of Nebraska. A graduate of the University of Nebraska, Mrs. Laase is a member of Alpha Xi Delta.

Marriage Solemnized On Sunday

MRS. MARVIN BROADBENT

Spreading arrangements of white snapdragons and yellow gladioli, and tall white candles burning in floor candelabra, were placed at either side of the altar at Vine Congregational Church to form the background for the marriage of Miss Ruth Scheerer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Scheerer, to Ensign Marvin Broadbent, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Broadbent of Broken Bow, on Sunday afternoon, April 11.

The 3 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Verne Spindell, and Mrs. P. C. Swift, organist, played the wedding music. Mrs. Swift also accompanied Bruce Beymer as he sang "With These Hands," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Joan Joyner, the maid of honor, and Miss Mary Ann Schlegel, the bridesmaid, wore alike frocks of silk in the sapphire blue tone, designed with long, torso bodices and flaring, waltz-length skirts. They carried rounded bouquets of yellow carnations. Costumed identically in ice blue silk and carrying nosegays of pink carnations were the flower girls, Miss Margaret Eschelman of Lincoln, and Miss Rose Maas of Crete, cousins of the bride. Lyle Templin of Ansley, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

White imported lace and silk tulle over satin fashioned the bride's gown. Beneath the long-sleeved, fitted bodice of lace, accented by a tulle yoke and tiny collar, the lace skirt was shirred into extreme fullness which was emphasized by front and back panels of pleated tulle. A half-hat of satin traced with pearls held her veil of silk illusion, and she carried a colonial arrangement of white feathered carnations centered with a lavender orchid.

Daniel Lutz of Broken Bow served as best man, and the ushers were Charles Umberger, William Skelton and Elliott Boisen.

The bride appeared in a gown designed with a strapless bodice of imported white lace and a waltz-length skirt of pleated white marquisette edged with the lace. GILMORE-KIRKMAN

For her marriage to Paul L. Kirkman, which took place on Saturday evening, April 10, at the First Christian Church in Fremont, Miss Lois Elaine Gilmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert L. Gilmore of Ames, chose a gown of schiffli embroidered tulle over satin. Designed with a sweetheart neckline, the long-sleeved fitted bodice was closed at the back with self-fabric buttons, and narrowed to a slender waist above a skirt fashioned of ruffles and worn over hoops. Her double-tiered veil of imported silk illusion was fingertip length, and was held to the head with a heart-shaped shell dotted with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses with a shower of lilies-of-the-valley.

Styled identically of net and lace were the costumes of the attendants including Miss Wenona Jean Gilmore, who was her sister's maid of honor, and who appeared in yellow; and the bridesmaids, Miss Irene Enzor of Junction City, Kan.; Miss Donna Stewart, Scottsbluff, and Miss Beverly Hull of Fremont, all of whom wore the lavender shade. The fitted bodices, under bolero jackets, were of lace, and the wide skirts were fashioned of panniers of tiered net.

James Kirkman of North Platte served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Roger Gilmore of Iowa City, Ia.; Norman Kavander, Gary Heinzle, both of Lincoln; and Paul Brinkman and William Merrick, North Platte.

Following the 7:30 o'clock ceremony, which was solemnized by the Rev. LaMoine Waldron, minister of First Christian, a reception for the 250 guests was held in the church parlors where the refreshment table, arranged with a satin cloth, was appointed with yellow roses and lighted candles in silver candelabra, and was centered with a tiered wedding cake on a mirrored plateau.

For the honeymoon trip, after which Mr. Kirkman and his bride will go to Chicago to reside, Mrs. Kirkman wore a silk and wool suit of Dior blue, with navy and pink accessories.

The bride was graduated from Phillips University in Enid, Okla. Mr. Kirkman, the son of Mrs. Velma Kirkman of North Platte, is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Delta Sigma Pi, professional business administration fraternity.

DREYER-LANGDON

Miss Dorothy Aileen Dreyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Dreyer of Cook, became the bride of Donald E. Langdon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Langdon of Lincoln, at a late afternoon ceremony on Sunday, April 11. Lighted white candles and bouquets of Easter lilies, white carnations and pink snapdragons decorated the chancel of the Brock Methodist Church for the double ring service, which was read by the Rev. Donald J. Webster.

Preceding the ceremony, Coe Kroese of Lincoln, and Miss Donna Heinz of Fairmont, sang accompanied by Mrs. John Marrs of Brock, organist, who also played the wedding music.

The maid of honor was Miss Frances Haskage of Nelson, Miss Connie Burns of Fairmont was bridesmaid, and Mrs. Wayne Wickenkamp of McCook, was her sister's bridesmatron. The attendants wore similar costumes of French blue net and taffeta, accented with Chantilly lace, and they carried nosegays of deep pink carnations.

Serving as best man was Donald Brandt of Beatrice, and the ushers were Richard Langdon, brother of the bridegroom, and Ardel Sieck of Crete. Floyd Wickenkamp of McCook, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

A gown of traditional white satin touched with imported lace was chosen by the bride for her wedding. The off-shoulder yoke of illusion was framed by a wide fold of the satin edged with a ruffle of Chantilly lace, and the snug bodice was completed by long fitted sleeves. The lace motif was repeated at the hem of the draped peplum beneath which the skirt flared into fullness and ended in a train. Her illusion veil was fingertip length, and she carried a white Bible showered with pale pink carnations.

A reception was held in the parlors of the church. Upon their return from a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Langdon will reside in Lincoln where the bride is employed and where Mr. Langdon is completing his studies at the University of Nebraska following four years service with the Navy.

A program based on a spring theme was presented by 2nd and 3rd grade pupils, after which a talk on the Bookmobile was given by Miss Louise Nixon of the state library commission, and Ralph Garner of the University of Nebraska library showed a film on books and people, "The Wealth Within." Hostesses for the social hour were Mrs. Thelander, Mrs. John E. Sandell and Mrs. Charles Svara.

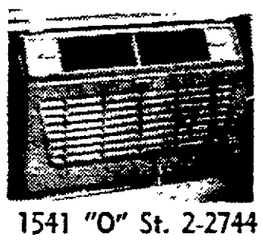

On Friday, the second in the series of mother-daughter parties at HARTLEY school was held for the 4th, 5th and 6th grades with Mrs. Gilbert Webster serving as mistress of ceremonies. Following a program by the pupils, the mothers and daughters made Easter hats. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. George Round, Mrs. G. T. Webster, Mrs. Gladys Hoyt, Miss Shirley Alexander and Miss Carrie Hult.

Last week, a party for the mothers and their daughters in the kindergarten, 1st, 2nd, and 3rd grades was held at the school. Mrs. V. F. Villers was mistress of ceremonies, and following the welcome by Martha Porter, the response was given by her mother, Mrs. Clair Porter. The program was given by the pupils.

The Life Of Christ

CHAPTER XXV

Some things in life are too beautiful to be forgotten, but there can also be something in death that is too beautiful to be forgotten. That is why we have a Memorial Day—to recall the sacrifices of our youth for the preservation of freedom. Freedom is not an heirloom, but a life. Once received, it does not continue to exist without effort, like an old painting. As life must be nourished, defended and preserved, so freedom must be repurchased in each generation. What Washington won, had to be re-won in Lincoln, and then won again in World Wars I and II.

All the blood that crimsoned Valley Forge and Bunker Hill and Gettysburg, and then, later on, reddened the soil of France, Korea and the Pacific Islands cried out like Abel's blood for remembrance. Our hearts, knowing that we live because they died, answer their mute pleas by instituting a Memorial Day to recall in thanksgiving, prayer and reverence, the sublime truth that "greater love than this no man hath, that he lay down his life for his friends."

Christ Born to Die

These youth, however, were not born to die; soldiering was an interruption to their summons to live. neither they nor their parents willed that their ship of life should be sunk so soon after launching into the sea of life. In this, all men differ from Our Blessed Lord, Who came into this world to die. Even at His Birth, His Mother was reminded that He came to die, as the Wise Men brought myrrh for His burial. Never before, did any mother in the world see Death wrap its skeletoned arms so quickly about an Infant Birth; never before did the shadow of the Cross fall so quickly on a crib.

When Christ is still only an infant, the old man Simeon, looked into the face of Him Who turned back eternity and was made young and said that He was destined to be a "sign to be contradicted" — a signal that would call out the opposition of the deliberately imperfect. The Mother, on hearing that word "contradicted," could almost see Simeon's arms fade and the arms of the Cross take their place to wrap Him in death. Before two years of His Life had been lived, King Herod sends out horsemen pounding like thunder bolts, and with swords flashing like lightning attempts to decapitate His Infant Head, not yet strong enough to bear the weight of a crown!

Institutes Own Memorial

Since, then, Our Divine Lord came to die, it was fitting that there be a Memorial to His death! If we keep a memorial of soldiers who died that we might be free from political oppression, then should not the Divine Soldier have a memorial for preserving us from the spiritual tyranny of sin? Since He is God, as well as man, and since He never spoke of His Death without speaking of His Resurrection, should He not, Himself institute the precise memorial of His own death and not leave it to the chance recollection of men? And that is precisely what He did the night of the Last Supper. Our Memorial Day was not instituted by soldiers who foresaw their death. But His Memorial was instituted, and this is important, not because He would die like a soldier and be buried, bht because He would live again after the Resurrection.

In His last hours with His Apostles. He instituted not a Memorial Day, but a Memorial Action. Seated at a Passover meal which commemorated the liberation of His people from the slavery of Egypt, He prepares to fulfill it by celebrating the liberation of souls from the slavery of Satan! As the paschal lambs were being sacrificed to celebrate the deliverance from political slavery. Christ, the true Paschal Lamb, now prepares to offer Himself to save souls from spiritual slavery. This would be the New Testament, and like the Old, it too would be sealed with blood—not with the blood of sheep and goats, but with the blood of Himself, the Immaculate Lamb.

At the Last Supper, Christ's eyes kindle, and His whole bearing takes on a majesty greater than when He spoke to Moses and Elias in the clouds. Taking in His hands a piece of unleavened bread, He lifts His eyes to heaven, gives thanks, and over it says: "Take, eat, This is My Body Which shall be delivered for you." Then, taking the cup of wine, by another act of omnipotence, He breathes over it saying: "Drink, all of you, of This; for This is My Blood of the New Testament, which shall be shed for many unto the remission of sins."

Note the words: "My Body Which shall be delivered for you: My Blood of the New Testament Which shall be shed."

Good Friday Anticipated

He is looking forward to the morrow, Good Friday, when He will die on the Cross—the one supreme reason for His coming to earth. It was a new Covenant, a new Testament. There had been one Covenant with Noah on leaving the ark, another Covenant with Moses on leading the people from Egypt. All these were figures leading to this new Covenant or Testament between God and man. On God's side, it pledges remission of sins through His Death; on man's side, an incorporation to that death by faith and sacrifice.

But how, it may be asked, does the changing of the Bread into His Body and the changing of the wine into His Blood, foreshadow His sacrificial Death on the Cross on the morrow? Notice that Our Lord did not consecrate the bread and wine together but separately. This symbolic action represents the way He would be sacrificed on the Cross. namely by the violent separation of His Blood from His Body. The words: "This is My Body," and then "This is My Blood," were a kind of mystical sword, separating one from the other. His Passion and His Sacrifice are now beginning, and the grim side of that will be seen on the morrow on the Cross silhouetted against a darkened sky. Then He will be upright as a Priest, and prostrate as a Victim offering Himself for the sins of the world.

But because Our Lord's Memorial was not instituted by us, but by Him, and because He could not be conquered by death which is a penalty for sin, but would rise again in the newness of life, He willed that as He now looked forward to His Redemptive Death on the Cross, so all the Christian ages until the consummation of the world should look back to it. In order that they would not re-enact the Memorial out of whim or fancy, He gave the command: "Do this for a commemoration of Me." That is, "announce My redemptive Death until I come again! I will be the same Priest and Victim on both My Cross and your commemoration of My Death. But as I look forward to the Cross, you will look back to it. My last Supper looks in prospect to Myself as the Victim to be immolated on Calvary, so in your commemoration you will look back to the immolation that has already taken place."

'Key Senators Agree To Housing Program'

WASHINGTON (AP)—An agreement designed to win congressional approval of a two-year public housing program of about 35,000 units a year is reported to have been reached by key senators.

One-half of this program, for the year starting July 1, is already set and needs no further action by Congress. The agreement reportedly worked out in the last few days is aimed at overcoming considerable obstacles to the other half.

The plan, outlined by a senator who asked not to be quoted by name, has the reported backing of Senators Saltonstall (R-Mass). Capehart (R-Ind) and Mayband (D-SC).

Ton Of Deadly Rattlesnakes Taken Alive

OKEENE, Okla., (AP) — Nearly a ton of venomous rattlesnakes, buzzing their defiance, were captured alive in Salt Creek Canyon Sunday in the 15th annual rattlesnake roundup.

The bizarre "sporting event" drew an estimated 20,000 persons from 26 states. The foray into the reptile-infested gypsum hills was sponsored by the International Association of Rattlesnake Hunters.

Joe Durham, chief rattler, said 1,576 snakes were snared, either with forked sticks, special snake-catching tongs or—by the braver souls with bare hands.

Hollow from the long winter's hibernation, they averaged a little more than a pound apiece, totaling 1,925 pounds.

Durham acclaimed the round-up a big success despite cool weather, the bane of rattlers, and a brief thundershower which kept more snakes from venturing into the open.

Ag Exports Drop Again

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Agriculture Department reports another decline in exports of American agricultural products.

The department said that foreign shipments of U.S. farm commodities in January were down 24 per cent from January, 1953. The chief cause of this decline was a reduction in shipments of wheat and other grains.

Farm exports for January were valued at 205 million dollars, compared with 269 millions dollars the previous January.

The problem of declining exports has been the most significant factor in the nation's recent farm recession, and the Eisenhower administration is sending trade missions to Europe, Asia and Latin-America this week to study the situation.

Exports of corn, barley and rice also dropped in January, although increases were registered for cotton, tobacco, peanuts, soybeans, lard, beef and veal.

Peter Pan asked hundreds of women what qualities they want their bread to have.

Early this year, Peter Pan asked hundreds of homemakers just like you this important question: What qualities do you want in your bread? You gave us your answers. Now, here's the loaf, baked the way you want it! New Mello-Baking makes the difference! And you'll notice that difference the moment you open the wrap. Get a loaf of new Mello-Baked Peter Pan Fresh Bread — and see for yourself!

- Fragrant Fresh-Baked Aroma
- Thinner, Golden Crust
- Finer, "Hole-Free" Texture
- New Springy Softness
- More Flavor Goodness
- Longer Lasting Freshness

New, improved PETER PAN FRESH BREAD is mello-baked for tastier meals

A NEW FORMULA mellows the dough so it rises gently — gives a new, springy softness, a "closer" texture that keeps the freshness in longer, protects the matchless flavor of Peter Pan.

A NEW BAKING PROCESS uses circulated, radiating heat to Mello-Bake each loaf at lower temperature. Saves flavor and goodness, reduces drying out, and gives a thinner, golden-brown crust.

MOISTURE-CONTROLLED COOLING cools Peter Pan from oven heat to the right temperature for wrapping. Then all the Mello-Baked goodness is sealed in, with the plasticized wrap.

Bantam Ben, Slammin' Sam Tie In Masters Final

Enos Slaughter Traded By Cardinals To Yanks

NEW YORK (AP)—Enos (Country) Slaughter, veteran St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, was traded to the world champion New York Yankees Sunday in the second startling player deal between the two clubs during spring training.

To get Slaughter, the Yanks announced they had given up Mel Wright, a 13-2 relief pitcher from Kansas City, and three more men to be sent to Card farm clubs later. Many baseball men, however, believe the Slaughter deal was only the second half of the Feb. 23 transaction in which the Yanks sold Vic Raschi to St. Louis for $75,000.

Slaughter, a "hustle" guy whose name has been synonymous with the St. Louis Cards for 16 years, will be 38 on April 27. He has been as closely associated with the Cards as Raschi had been with the New York club.

Although Slaughter was supposed to be near the end of the string after spending his entire career with the Cards, he played 143 games last season, hit .291 and batted in 89 runs. His lifetime major league average is .305.

The country "boy" from Roxboro, N.C. played against the Yanks in the 1942 World Series, starring defensively with Terry Moore. He also played with the world champions of 1946, last National League series winner, hitting .320 in the seven game series with the Boston Red Sox.

If General Manager George Weiss really was looking for somebody to combat the Yankee "complacency", Slaughter could be the man. He comes from the old never-give-up school, runs out harmless infield grounders and bowls over anybody who has the tough luck of getting in his way.

To get Slaughter out of the National League, the Cards had to secure waivers from the other National League clubs. How some of the clubs could waive on the old warhorse, even at his age, was a mystery. His salary, probably around $28,000 couldn't be enough to scare off many.

Slaughter was getting tough competition for his old right field job with the Cards this spring but everybody expected he would be playing his usual 140 or 150 games. Rookie Wally Moon, a .311 hitter at Rochester last year, and Joe Frazier, who hit .332 at Oklahoma City, were pressing him. Moon, in particular, looked like a solid bet for the future with his speed.

Manager Casey Stengel didn't indicate immediately what he would do with Slaughter. But he can be counted upon to make good use of the oldster. Whether he two-platoons Enos with Hank Bauer in right field, playing the ex-Card against righthanded pitching, or whether he pictures him as the pinch hitter successor to Johnny Mize, Enos will see plenty of action.

Wright, the pitcher who went to the Cards, spent spring training with the Yanks and recently was sent to the Kansas City farm. The husky sidearm artist had a brilliant relief record with the Blues in 47 games last year. He was spotted by Alley Donald, former Yankee, in the semi-pro ranks in 1950.

In addition to Wright, the Yanks agreed to assign two players outright to a Cardinal farm and to option another player, all to be named later. They insisted no cash was involved.

Chiefs' Ticket Drive Planned

With the Western League season scheduled to open in five days, the Lincoln Jaycees have announced they will make a fund-raising ticket drive Thursday in an effort to get the more than $10,000 needed to assure the Lincoln Chiefs of a strong financial condition.

Over 50 Jaycees will participate in a city-wide drive to sell Chiefs tickets in all major business houses, offices and industrial plants.

The advance sale will include booster books, season boxes and reserved seats and box seat options. The booster books include 12 tickets for $9.90. Box seat options, which entitle the purchaser to the use of his box at any game when he buys a general admission ticket.

The season box seat includes all regular home games and is $79.50. Season reserved seats are $69.50.

The Jaycees' office campaign will start at 10 a.m. Thursday and will last until noon.

Salesmen will have booster books with them for direct sale and will be ready to confirm specific seats for purchasers of box seat options, box seats and reserved seats.

The Jaycee project is headed by Bob Henderson. Team captains are Charles Casper, Orval Brown and Charles Roach.

Fete For Chiefs

A "welcome back" luncheon will be given for the Lincoln Chiefs Thursday noon at the Chamber of Commerce.

Sponsored by the Lions and Sertoma clubs, the banquet will be open to the public. Reservations must be made in advance by calling the chamber.

Field Manager Whitey Wietelmann and General Manager Bill Herring will speak and the players will be introduced.

Bitter Enos Weeps As Trade Told

By AL DOPKING

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Enos Slaughter—the old war horse—broke into tears Sunday when he learned he had been traded to the world champion New York Yankees.

He shook his head in disbelief, saying:

"This is the biggest shock of my life. Something I never expected to happen. I've given my life to this organization, and they let you go when they think you're getting old.

"What gets me is that they let you go before you're finished. I've still got some good years of baseball in me."

There was no mistaking Slaughter's bitterness. Yet even while he repeated over and over "this is the greatest shock of my life," it was obvious he also accepted the happening as part of the game.

He wiped his eyes with a handkerchief while telling newsmen he plans to leave tonight to join the Yankees in Washington for the season opener Tuesday.

"I'll be there for the opening game," Slaughter said, "and I'll give Casey Stengel (Yankee manager) 100 per cent—just as I've given every ball club I've played for."

And Slaughter referred to his trade as a shock. He barely could talk. His usually husky voice wavered and broke.

"I've always hustled for the Cardinals," he said. "And I'll say that if a lot of other fellows would hustle more it would be a helluva lot better club."

Slaughter said he had hoped to play with the Cardinals this year and try to help them win a pennant. Now, he added, he will go on to New York and try to help them to the same thing in the American League.

Cardinal Manager Eddie Stanky, his arm around Slaughter, wore a long face as he talked about the old war horse's departure after being in a Cardinal uniform since 1938.

It's one of those "tough things" managers have to face, said Stanky. "If there's any bright side to this," he added, "a champion baseball player is going to a champion baseball club."

In his one reference to the Cardinals' "Youth Movement" explanation for the trade, Slaughter said:

"I'll be around when a lot of these guys are gone. I'm not finished. I'll prove it to them. I just can't see this."

Yankees Bow To Dodgers, End Poor Spring Campaign; Bosox Hit Braves

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees concluded their worst spring training effort in many years Sunday by losing to the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5-2. The world champions thus dropped six of eight to the Brooks and lost 19 of 27 games against major league clubs.

The Yankees were held to three singles as the National League champions swept the three-game week-end series. Billy Loes held them hitless for the first three frames while the Brooks built up a 5-0 lead on Jim McDonald, Yankee righthander. Lefty John Podres was touched for two blows in the middle three innings and Joe Black gave one over the final three frames.

Jackie Robinson led the Dodgers with a double, single, sacrifice fly and three runs batted in. Gil Hodges blasted a double and a two-run homer. The homer came in the third inning and was his fourth, tops for the club, this spring.

The result set the Dodgers' exhibition record at 23-11, all games being played against major league opposition. Not included in the Yankee record is six straight victories over minor league opposition while the club was en route home from Florida.

Playoff Set For Today; Patton Finishes Third

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Ben Hogan and Sam Snead, a pair of calculating, experienced pros, refused to gamble along with amateur Billy Joe Patton Sunday and tied for the Masters Golf title that Patton blew away on the last nine holes.

They will get their chance to shoot the works at 1 p.m. (CST) today in an 18-hole playoff that will make one of them the second man ever to win the coveted Masters three times.

These two, regarded as America's greatest golfers in recent years, shot illusion-shattering scores over the gorgeous Augusta National Course. Snead came from nowhere to tie on the strength of an even par 72 for the final round. Hogan, far off the form that brought him the Masters, the U.S. Open and the British Open titles last summer, had a 75.

The 72-hole scores of 289 were the highest winning totals in the 20-year history of the tournament. Snead held the old high mark of 286, set in 1951.

Par for the sprawling, flower-decked Augusta National course, thronged by some 18,000 spectators, is 36-36—72. So Snead and Hogan were one over par for the four rounds.

In the playoff, Snead and Hogan will be playing for $5,000 first money instead of the $2,000 originally listed as top prize.

At the presentation ceremony, Augusta National President Bob Jones announced that all prize awards had been increased by 150 per cent. That makes it a $25,000 tournament instead of just $10,000 and the runner-up will get $3,125. For the past two years there had been a 100 per cent bonus.

Patton, the vacationing young businessman from Morganton, N.C., who never thought he'd go anywhere in his first Masters, finished one stroke behind when a couple of audacious gambles went wrong

Tied with Hogan after 63 holes as the result of a hole-in-one on the sixth hole, Billy Joe realized he could win and gave it an all-out try. But his tremendous wood shots failed him on the long 13th and 15th holes. Even so he shot a 71 for a 290 total.

Still it was Patton's comeback from a third round 75 and the chance to win that gave the crowd its biggest thrill. The customers deserted Hogan, something that rarely happens, to watch Billy Joe Tied for fourth at 291 were veteran pros Dutch Harrison and Lloyd Mangrum, who shot two of the day's best rounds when the crowd and the pressure left them. Harrison had a 68 and Mangrum a 69.

Jack Burke, who played the last round with Hogan, finished with 292 to tie with Jerry Barber and Bob Rosburg, young Chicago pro.

Patton lost his chance on the 13th hole, the same place where Jim Ferrier staged a notable blow-up in 1950. After shooting the front nine in 32, with the aid of the sixth ace ever shot in a Masters tournament, Billy Joe slipped over par on the 12th. He tried to get it back on the next hole.

A creek winds around the 13th green and the pin was placed to the side near it. Patton whaled away with a wood shot, hit it high but just far enough off line that it dropped into the creek. He debated trying to play out, then dropped a ball and took a seven on the hole

Again on the 15th, he gambled with a shot across the creek and hit it into the water for a six.

Hogan, who almost lost out on a similar chance-taking shot on the eleventh before he heard of Patton's seven, actually won on that same 15th. Realizing then that he needed a birdie somewhere to tie Snead, he went for the green, belted one to the far side and almost holed out a 60-foot putt. He got the bird and stayed even until he got to the clubhouse where Snead was sweating it out.

Snead, three strokes behind Hogan at the start of the final round, had the advantage of starting times. He was ahead and the gallery began drifting away when he made a bad start, shooting a scrambling 37 on the front nine.

He didn't shoot great golf for a Snead, but it was adequate.

He three-putted the 12th green, then proceeded to get two shots back with birdies on the crucial 13th and 15th holes. His short irons pulled him out.

Chiefs Fall 5-2 Before Tiger Hits

Lincoln Star Special

TYLER, Tex.—Salty Parker's Tyler Tigers, after being held scoreless for five frames by Rog Wright, greeted Bob Mathieson with a three-hit barrage in the sixth and went on to halt the Lincoln Chiefs, 5-2, in an exhibition game here.

A two-base overthrow of first by Davis gave Fred Hancock life in the Lincoln half of the fourth and Andy Anderson sent the Chief's second sacker home with the initial run of the ball game.

Whitey Wietelmann's gang got another in the sixth when Gene Castiglione led off with a single advanced on two walks and chalked up on Tom Neill's roller to Cullins.

The Chiefs got only seven hits, all singles, with Anderson's two blows topping the attack. Lincoln lost a scoring chance in the seventh when Spyker walked the bases full with two away. But Santomauro gobbled up Anderson's hot grounder for the final out.

Rog Wright was nicked for only one single during his five-inning tenure on the mound. He struck out three.

Joe Rivich and Johnny Jones played in the contest for Lincoln while Carols Santiago is due in today.

Only 5 Hurlers To Repeat As Starters

35 Pct. Of 1953 Regulars Will Be Missing Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP)—The annual 154-game preliminary to baseball's World Series opens Tuesday in eight cities with the "complacent" New York Yankees and the "old men" from Brooklyn again favored to make the finals.

The Yanks' spring dizzy spells have encouraged the rest of the American League to take heart in its struggle to end New York's five-year domination. Still the men who bet have made the Yanks even money to win the pennant.

Brooklyn's creaky bones must have been well oiled over the winter, for the Dodgers have been eating up major league competition with such consistency that they are odds on to repeat in the National League.

Changes have been made by the carload since last opening day, with roughly 35 per cent of the regulars who started the '53 season since replaced. Naturally the mortality rate is highest on the second division clubs.

The pitchers did not escape the "new faces" drive. Only five of the '53 opening day starters are listed for action Tuesday. Such old dependables as Robin Robers of the Phillies, Mel Parnell of Boston and Bob Porterfield of Washington are expected to go but a couple of them may be axed at the last minute.

Five new brains will direct maneuvers from the bench, if it is permissable to call Jimmy Dykes "new." The little man with the big cigar shifted cities over the winter, moving from the Philadelphia A's to help revive the "Old Orioles" spirit in Baltimore. Eddie Joost, his old shortstop, took over with the A's. In the National Walter Alston succeeded Chuck Dressen at Brooklyn, Birdie Tebbetts followed Rogers Hornsby at Cincinnati and Stan Hack unexpectedly got the Chicago Cubs' job during spring training when Phil Cavarretta was rash enough to tell his boss the ball club didn't have it.

The other big change in the baseball scene was the shift of St. Louis Browns francise to Baltimore, which becomes a "western" club in the American. Baltimore opens on the road at Detroit but fireworks can be expected when they get home Thursday.

President Eisenhower will throw out the first ball at Washington this time. You may remember he chose to play golf at Augusta last year when the Senators were supposed to open. However it rained and the President finally did make it back home in time to do the honors four days later.

Nobody beats the gun with a special opener this year and nobody starts at night although they'll be playing night games before the week is out.

The Yanks naturally will command the most attention because of their spring staggers. It will be up to Ford, making his first opening appearance, to get the champs off against Washington's "single hitters."

Vic Raschi opened last year. Gerry Coleman at second for GI Billy Martin probably will be the only change in Stengel's lineup although he has reserved decision until Tuesday morning. Washington no longer has Jackie Jensen, KenWood or Mickey Grasso from the '53 first day lineup.

When Boston opens at Philadelphia, the Red Sox will have to be introduced to the new A's, who will use six new men. Only Pete Suder and Gus Zernial are left from opening day a year ago among the regulars. The Red Sox have replaced Gene Stephens and Tom Umphlett and may make other changes, depending on manager Lou Boudreau's final selections. Ted Williams, of course, still is out with that broken collarbone but last April he was in Korea.

Cleveland's opening lineup of last spring will be nearly intact when the Indians meet the Chicago White Sox at Comiskey Park. A year ago Ray Boone was the shortstop, Bob Lemon was the pitcher and Suitcase Simpson was in right. Boone is in Detroit, Lemon has yielded to early Wynn and Sompson is still out with a broken bone. The White Sox have done a mild re-shuffling job, moving Minnie Minoso in to third base. Among the absentees are Vern Stephens, Sam Mele and Saul Rogovin from a year ago.

Baltimore swings into action at Detroit after a long, successful training season. Vic Wertz, Billy Hunter and Bob Young survive from last opening day Brownie lineup.

The Tigers also have made changes with Boone at third, Frank Bolling at second and Bill Tuttle in center.

Brooklyn has a stand pat lineup for the first game with the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds with only one change in left field. The Giants no longer have Daryl Spencer at third or Bobby Thomson in center.

Pittsburg first home opener in 61 years will find the customers rubbing their eyes at Fred Haney's lineup to oppose the Phils' Robin Roberts. The only hold-over from a year ago is Cal Abrams, a doubtful starter in right field. The Phillies have made few changes. The only '53 starter certain to be absent is Connie Ryan, now with Cincinnati.

The Cubs will go heavy on rookies against St. Louis at Busch Stadium where Manager Eddie Stanky of the Cardinals will be showing shortstop Alex Grammas and first baseman Tom Alston to the home fans. Dee Fondy, Ransom Jackson and Frankie Baumholtz will be surrounded by new Cubs who weren't around last April.

Milwaukee's opener at Cincinnati, where they always sell out with a 30,000 plus crowd, will find the Braves with Henry Aaron in left field while Thomson's broken ankle mends and Danny O'Connell at second. Max Surkont, the man who pitched a shutout to start the Braves on their way a year ago, is long gone. Wally Post in right field is about the only change from the Cincinnati lineup of last April. They're even using the same pitcher, Bud Podbielan.

Whitey Ford Yank Starter In Opener

NEW YORK (AP)—Lefthander Eddie Ford will pitch for the New York Yankees in Washington on opening day against the Washington Senators, Manager Casey Stengel announced Sunday.

Ed Lopat, another southpaw, will work against the Nats Wednesday. Stengel said and righthander Tom Morgan against the Philadelphia Athletics Thursday in the Yanks' home opener.

Ford was the leading winner for the champions last year with 18 victories and only six defeats. He had an indifferent spring, allowing 19 runs (12 earned) in 23 1-3 innings. He gave up 25 hits, fanned 11 and walked 15. It wasn't until last Wednesday at Norfolk, Va., that Ford worked a complete game, against the Tars of the Class B Piedmont League

Stengel also said he would not give up his lineup and batting order for the Washington opener until the morning of the game.

Top Challenger Basilio To Try Pierre Langlois

NEW YORK (AP)—Carmen Basilio of Canastota, N. Y., top challenger for Kid Gavilan's welter title, meets France's Pierre Langlois in a rematch at Syracuse, N. Y., Saturday in one of the more interesting fights on an ordinary week's program.

Jake LaMotta returns to the television cameras Wednesday night at Miami Beach (CBS) in his comeback as a light heavyweight against Miami's Billy Kilgore. The match was shoved into the gap when the Archie Moore-Jimmy Slade bout at Washington was postponed.

The Friday night fight again comes from New York's St Nicholas Arena, since the circus is occupying Madison Square Garden until May. Moses Ward of Detroit and George Johnson of Trenton, N. J., go 10 or less in a middleweight scrap on TV (NBC) and radio (ABC).

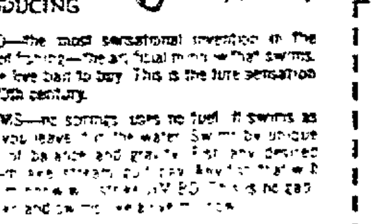

Eduardo Lausse of Buenos Aires, who impressed on a previous visit, returns to top the Eastern Parkway show in Brooklyn Monday. (Dumont-TV in some parts of the country) against Jesse Turner of St. Louis.

The Basilio-Langlois rematch (ABC-TV) is expected to sell out the Syracuse War Memorial Auditorium. Their first bout, Dec 19, wound up in a highly-debated draw with Langlois coming on strong in the final rounds. One judge voted for Langlois, one called it a draw and the referee named Basilo. Langlois is a middle-weight but Basilio campaigns as a 147 pounder.

With Willie Pep retired by the New York State Athletic Commission, matchmaker Joe McKenna in Holyoke, Mass., had to make a quick switch of his Monday feature, subbing Charlie Titone of Brooklyn against home two boy Bobby Courchesne in a featherweight battle. The Massachusetts commission went along with the New York ruling on Pep.

Rocky Castellani, high-ranking middleweight contender, goes back to work Thursday at Cleveland against Pedro Gonzales of Pittsburgh. North American bantam king Nate Brooks also is on the show.

Robin May Be Ready To Chirp

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"What's the matter with Robin Roberts?"

It was a question that baseball fans asked all through spring training.

The Philadelphia Phillies' big ace right-hander was certainly no ball of fire in those weeks down south. Admirers looked in vain for that cool, effortless control, the superb craftsmanship he had shown in other years.

Was it the twilight of another Olympian of the mound?

Never a talkative fellow, the easy-going Roberts prefers to let performance speak for itself—such a performance as he gave in the Phils' game with the Washington Senators last Friday. To that insistent query, "What's wrong?" He permits himself only a crisp and confident "Nothing at all."

Phils Manager Steve O'Neill, agrees. To all questions concerning Roberts' fitness he has one reply: "He'll be ready when the season starts."

That will be on Tuesday, with Roberts ready to take on the Pittsburgh Pirates in the opener at Pittsburgh.

Mauled in his previous six starts, Roberts displayed his old form against the Senators. He struck out five batters, walked none, gave up only six hits. He retired 10 men in a row. It was his best job since last August. The game itself was called at 2-2 tie in the 10th inning because of cold weather.

For the first time in his career, those around him point out, Roberts hadn't pressed spring conditioning too hard. In other years he was one of the first to reach peak fitness. More than once he was cautioned against rushing the training.

Presumably convinced that easy does it, that a gradual workout would enable him to hold top form throughout the season, Robbie took his own time rounding into the pink.

Second Line Of Defense

This group of Cornhuskers, forming the second line of defense in the infield this season, will probably get a good workout as the Nebraska baseball team plays four games in the next four days. Left to right are Don Brown, Waterloo, Ia., third sacker; Norman Coufal, David City, shortstop; Dick Thimgan, Columbus, second baseman, and Larry Dunning, utility man from Falcon Heights, Tex. All are sophomores but Dunning who is a junior. (U. of N. Photo.)

Yanks Are Growing Old, But They're Still Best—Martin

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—We were looking over the New York Yankees to see if we could safely overlook them in the American League pennant race, and here's what we found:

Mickey Mantle has an ailing knee and how much he will play remains a big question.

Billy Martin is gone, and Gerry Coleman still hasn't found himself after his service in Korea.

Whitey Ford hasn't looked so good, although he did go nine innings against a minor league club.

Vic Raschi is gone, along with 13 victories he turned in last year.

Phil Rizzuto, Eddie Lopat, Allie Reynolds and Johnny Sain—well, Darling, they are growing old.

So there's nothing to do but pick Casey Stengel's team to win its sixth straight flag. Not because they are so good, but because you can't locate the team that's going to beat them.

It's difficult to break a habit, and the Yankee habit is winning. They might look bad on paper, but the thing is, they beat you. Maybe they've had a lot of luck, but it seems to be the kind of luck that makes the sun rise in the east every morning.

Anyway, here's the way we'd pick the A.L. race:

1—Yankees; 2—Chicago White Sox; 3—Boston Red Sox; 4—Cleveland Indians; 5—Washington Senators; 6—Philadelphia Athletics; 7—Detroit Tigers; 8—Baltimore Orioles.

The White Sox will fight you down to the last out, and have good pitching. But we don't see enough power in their lineup; not enough guys to really give you that long ball when you need it.

The Red Sox have youth and dash, and unquestionably are a coming ball club. Their young pitchers have to come through, though, including Leo Kiely, and that's a big gamble. We doubt that Jackie Jensen, a spray hitter, will provide the home run punch at Fenway Park that was expected of him.

Ted Williams will be out for at least two or three weeks, and what he can do when he returns is problematical. Even with Ted in good health, though, you couldn't see the Red Sox winning. Too many question marks.

Cleveland, on paper, looks like a contender, but it's been a paper contender for years, and never seems to quite make it despite a flock of classy pitchers. We may be pessimistic in pushing the Indians down to fourth, sight unseen, but their record discourages optimism.

We have a hunch the Senators might be a surprise team. Bucky Harris has some very capable pitchers, particularly for the night games that predominate the home schedule, and he has a speedy outfield that will bring moans to many a long-ball hitter, particularly in Griffith Stadium. The Nats are primarily singles hitters, though, and this lack of power will be quite a handicap.

We were impressed with the spirit of the Athletics under Eddie Joost, and believe that with Bobby Shantz back in form they will cause many a headache. We think they benefited in their deal with the Yankees, but we still can't see much sense to letting Dave Philley go.

Detroit is in the throes of a rebuilding program, and still is stumbling against trees in its efforts to get out of the woods. Freddie Hutchinson sees the club as improved, but he has better eyesight than we have.

From here it looks like the Orioles are the Browns in new uniforms. The new setting, with accompanying enthusiasm of the fans, may perk them up a bit, but it's still hard to hit a home run with a new environment.

Special Care For Brooklyn's Fans Listed In Booklet

NEW YORK (INS)—The Brooklyn Red Cross chapter and the radio station which airs Dodger games, WMGM, prepared for the rigors of the new baseball season Sunday by issuing the fourth in a series of manuals on the "Care and Protection of Dodger Fans."

The new volume takes special note of the "rising tide of psychosomatic ailments and tension-created conditions." The Red Cross said:

"Special attention is given to the three ailments listed below:

"Hyperpiesia Straphicoi Enthusiastae (Columbia University classics department for Dodger fan hypertension.)

"Ulcus Brooklynensis Ludorum—duodeni, pepti, gastri (Coney Island hospital for Brooklyn praisers' ulcers, duodenal, peptic and gastric.)

"Broken noses (Brooklynese for an ailment which is not psychosomatic but is very disturbing.)"

The manual advises Dodger fans to approach the season in a "calm, relaxed manner," to sit still, root calmly, thoughtfully and coherently and if Dodger fielding or baserunning gets too bad to "lower your head quickly between your knees to avoid fainting."

The instructions conclude:

"To remain perfectly well and sane at all times, and to be prepared to care for ills caused by over-excited fellow spectators, take a Red Cross home nursing and first aid course. Knowing the Dodgers like we do, we can assure you that then you will be ready for anything."

Spending Cut To Balance Budget Urged

Findings Of Study Reported

WASHINGTON (AP)—Drastic cost-cutting to reduce federal spending obligations by eight billion dollars and balance the 1955 budget was urged by the privately supported committee on federal tax policy.

The group, headed by Roswell Magill, former undersecretary of the treasury, said in a report that "the only way to reduce taxes safely is to reduce expenditures along with them." It called for "heroic efforts" to economize.

The survey estimated that budget outlays for the fiscal year starting July 1 could be carved to about 60 billion dollars as against the $65,600,000,0000 proposed in President Eisenhower's budget.

Obligations

Spending "obligations," meaning commitments for next year or thereafter, could be carved even more deeply, the committe held, and enough of the savings could be realized next year to turn the prospective $2,900,000,000 deficit into a $2,700,000,000 surplus.

The proposals did not include curtailment of military outlays although: "We believe that many billions of dollars can be squeezed out of the military budget."

Sharp changes in federal policy were demanded, to make possible the economies.

Cancel Outlays

To slash eight billion dollars from obligations, the committee said, will require cancellation of $3,300,000,000 in outlays for "federal business enterprises" and aids and services to special group; elimination of $1,200,000,000 worth of "non-essential items" in the budget; return to the states and local governments of functions costing $2,500,000,000; and obtaining the rest of the savings by curtailing various programs for which the need was called "at least doubtful."

The findings were presented in two sections of a three-part study. The third, dealing with tax recommendations, will be issued April 28 in New York, Magill told reporters. He indicated this will call for substantial reduction in the total tax load, but will favor a general manufacturers' sales tax.

It will oppose the increase in personal income tax exemptions urged by some Democrats in Congress.

Atom Field

The proposed budget savings include 705 million dollars to be achieved by removing the government from the development of commercial uses of atomic power, leaving the field entirely to private industry.

An additional $1,296,000,000 would be obtained by eliminating nearly one-third of Veterans' services and benefits.

Further billions could be saved, it was stated, by cutting off 90 per cent or more of the funds earmarked for foreign economic aid; grants to the states for direct relief to the aged, the blind, and dependent children; special services to business and agriculture; and federal support for education and hospital construction.

The recommendations were said to be based on the assumption that national security requires "effective functioning of the free enterprise system"; and that this in turn demands a balanced federal budget and tax reduction.

Basic Review

The committee, of which Acting Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes was a member until he entered the government last year, called for a basic review of "the policies from which an overgrown and extravagant federal establishment has developed." It went on:

"What needs to be done is to abandon or curtail activities which are not proper government functions, but rather the province of private enterprise; to withdraw federal participation in the financing of many state and local activities; and to effect every possible economy...."

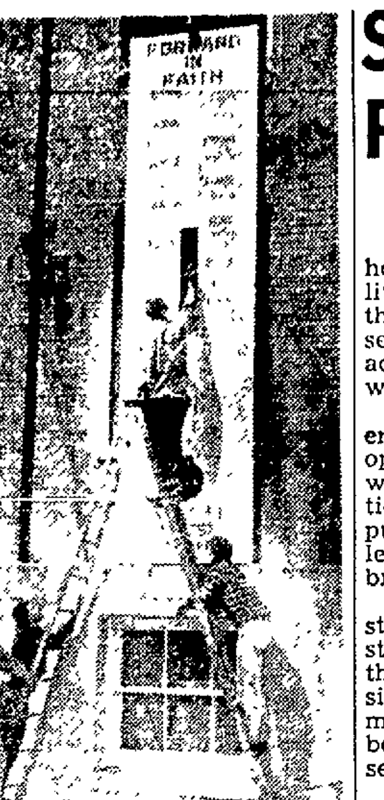

To illustrate the extent to which the government is in business the committee said:

"The government lends money; builds houses; stores agricultural commodities; insures lives, crops and cargoes; installs power lines and markets electricity; runs railroads; owns and manages hotels."

"(It) prints and publishes magazines and other periodicals; rents buildings; operates stores and commissaries, communication services, terminal facilities; warehouses, bakeries, banks, fish hatcheries, laundries and dry-cleaning plants; roasts coffee, manufactures fertilizer, clothing, helium, ice cream, tin nickel, rope, rum, and paint; and sells furs."

Besides deep slashes in the atomic, welfare and Veterans' programs, the proposed cuts would eliminate 350 million dollars for production and marketing of farm products; 170 million dollars of airline subsidies, and the 330 million dollar postal deficit.

The group of programs for which the need is "at least doubtful," said the committee, includes 400 million dollars for water resource work, 110 million dollars for foreign information and exchange activities, and 90 million dollars for promotion of the Merchant Marine.

Over The Top

When the First Methodist Church went over the top in its $175,000 funds campaign the Nebraska Wesleyan University students charged with painting the symbolic campaign thermometer found they had to get a taller ladder to permit Art Robertson, (top of ladder), to finish the job. The $175,000 will be used to construct a $125,000 educational unit, remodel west vestry and replace the present heating system.

Singapore Fire Rages Through Waterfront

SINGAPORE (AP)—Three warehouses were destroyed Sunday in one of the worst fires in recent years along the Singapore waterfront.

Several thousand tons of sugar, copra, corn, oats and bran went up in smoke. The damage was estimated at 60,000 pounds ($168,000).

Surface Calm As State Politicos Quietly Study

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Political observers at the statehouse predict that there will be little positive political activity in the state until after the special session of the Legislature, but admit that there is much quiet work being done in both parties.

Democrats appear particularly enthusiastic and point to the openly expressed dissatisfaction with administration of both national and state affairs by Republican leadership. Farm problems and taxes are bearing the brunt of criticism.

Growing interest in the minor state offices plus reports that strong candidates have indicated that they will enter the congressional races are bolstering the morale of Democrats, which has been at low ebb in the state for several years.

First To File

Stanley D. Long, Grand Island druggist who for 24 years was a member of the board of regents of the University of Nebraska, was the first Democrat to actually file. He seeks the nomination for lieutenant-governor.

Western Nebraska cattlemen said last week that they have been assured that Dwight F. Felton, Jr., Lincoln real estate broker, will be a candidate for state office. They refused to state which post he will seek.

However, as the secretary of state is chairman of the Nebraska Brand Committee and the Real Estate Commission, it is believed likely that he will seek that office.

Felton grew up at Ogallala where his father, later state director of agriculture and WPA and OPA administrator, was in the real estate business.

The Lincoln real estate man has a statewide acquaintance through being a traveling salesman for a number of years before entering business here.

Republican incumbents are all expected to be back on the ballot with the exception of State Treasurer Frank Heintze, who is ineligible for another term. Additional filings are expected for this office after the special session.

'Magic' Gone

It is also considered likely that there will be a contest for Republican nominee in the First District. It is pointed out that the "magic" of the name Weaver has worn off with the younger voters today being unable to remember when candidate Phil Weaver's father was governor and that he personally does not have the wide acquaintance of his father.

Sen. Arthur Carmody of Trenton is reported still interested in a political post and may enter either the race for Congress or for state treasurer. Sen. Ralph Hill of Hebron is also known to be investigating his chances for treasurer.

Carl G. Swanson, who recently retired as executive secretary of the State Bankers Association and a former state treasurer, refused last week to state positively whether he would or would not again seek the state post. He has just returned from a vacation trip in the south.

Former Sen. John P. McKnight of Auburn is still considered a possibility to contest for the congressional nomination on the Republican ticket as is Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings. Considerable opposition is being evidenced among Republicans to Weaver's candidacy.

While Democrats have not come forth with any outstanding candidate for governor, Republicans are equally unsettled as they await final word from Gov. Robert Crosby as to his future plans. Sen. Terry Carpenter has stated in private conversations that he will enter the race if Crosby seeks re-election.

S. Ray Batson, 77, Services Monday

Marion Batson of Jaipur, India, and Avery Batson, District 7 Bureau of Reclamation director at Denver; daughters, Mrs. Naomi Dunbar of Omaha, Nada Batson of Bennington and Mrs. Ruth Walter of Los Angeles; and sisters, Mrs. Edna Hoff of Lincoln and Mrs. Eva Miller of Phoenix, Ariz.

Report Cites Progress In County Roads

.. Dirt Road Total Halved; Gravel Hiked

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Five-year progress in the improvement of Lancaster County's roads and bridges is shown in County Engineer Louis Weaver's annual report for 1953.

Of the county's 1,635-mile road system, including 134.85 miles of state and federal roads, there are only 304.77 miles of earth roads remaining as compared with 699.49 miles in 1948.

Gravel surfaced roads totaling 728 miles in 1948 were increased to 1,118 miles during the five-year period through 1953.

99 Per Cent

Graveling of the county's 861 miles of mail route roads is 99 per cent complete, with only seven miles to be completed during 1954.

While 300 miles of earthern roads remain, the report points out that 200 miles have no one residing on them.

On the remaining 100 miles, the county has a standing offer to grade and gravel the 50 or 60 miles to bring a graveled road to the farm homes of 120 families if the landowner shares half the cost of the gravel only.

Programmed for 1954 is regarding and surfacing of 34 miles of county roads and possible asphalt surfacing of nine miles of "heavily traveled" roads in the vicinity of Lincoln.

Cost $106,600

Road maintenance by the county's 29 patrol outfits during 1953 for a 135,639 maintenance-miles cost $106,600 for 74,341 man-hours and $28,377.82 for diesel fuel, gas and other supplies. This compares with 144,692 miles during 1949 costing $77,740 for 85,813 man-hours and $39,190 for supplies.

Surface repair work during 1953 was greater than 1949. This was largely possible because of fewer man-hours were required for snow removal and equipment repair, item which have a coefficient.

During 1953, graveling of mail route roads cost $232,762 for new graveling of about 85 miles and maintenance graveling of 315 miles.

Graveling cost on other county roads was $79,630 for new gravel one inch deep on 21 miles and maintenance gravel (one-half inch) on 124 miles.

Of the $312,782 total cost, property owner groups shared in the cost for $9,164.

During 1953, $145,304.42 was spent for bridge work, which included 103 new structures and repairs to 717 bridges and culverts.

Total number of bridges and culverts totaled 6,841 for all types in 1949 as compared with 7,039 for 1953, an increase of 198 structures in five years.

Less Wood

During this period, replacement structures reduced wooden bridges from 639 in number to 576. Wooden culverts decreased from 208 to 135.

Conversely concrete culverts increased from 1,148 to 1,199 and corrugated iron pipe culverts from 2,222 to 2,671.

During 1953, two steel bridges, costing $10,653, and 23 concrete culverts, $35,967, were constructed by contract. County forces built two wooden bridges, one steel bridge and 74 iron-pipe culverts, at a total cost of $20,272. Repairs to 717 structures, including 219 wooden, 216 steel and 29 concrete bridges, cost $78,411. Work was mostly done by county forces.

Goat Goes To Jail

MOBERLY, Mo. (AP) — When day shift police officers came to work one morning, they were puzzled to find a black and white nanny goat in one of the jail cells. Night officers had left no report on the animal. The goat was a patient prisoner. And finally its owner came sheepishly in to claim his goat. It had wandered away from its pen during the night.

Pope Receives Sacred Palms

VATICAN CITY (AP)— Pope Pius Sunday received two sacred palms on this day dedicated by Christian churches to Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem. The palms came from a family which has been supplying Roman Catholic Popes with them since 1586.

They were offered to Pope Pius by the administration of the Apostolic Palace and the Camaldolite Nuns of Rome. They were brought to the papal chambers by Msgr. Canisio Van Lierde, the Pope's sacristan, and by Msgr. Giulo Barbetta, his delegate in Rome.

As in many years past, the artistic fronds were prepared by the Camaldolite Nuns, who worked on them for many weeks prior to Palm Sunday. One was decorated with flowers and elaborate rosettes. The other, donated by the palace administration, had at its crown an arrangement of the "Agnus Dei," with a reproduction of the Madonna and of Murillo's painting "Immacolata."

Dead are Boyd Gai, 38, Yellowjacket, Colo., bean farmer; his wife, Audrey, their two children and John R. Becher, 73, of Cortez, Colo.

From Lincoln Pulpits:

'Jesus A Reformer, Savior And Believer'—Rev. Rogers

Jesus can be identified as a reformer, a believer, a savior, the Rev. Vance D. Rogers said at the Palm Sunday observance Sunday morning at Trinity Methodist Church.

Rev. Mr. Rogers

He based his sermon on the story of Jesus' triumphant entry into Jerusalem when the bystanders questioned His identity.

The Rev. Mr. Rogers said events in Jerusalem characterized Jesus as a man of action, a reformer.

"He went to the temple and drove out those who bought and sold, with the soul-stirring indictment: 'My House shall be called a house of prayer, but you have made it a den of robbers'," he said.

When questioned about the allegiance a man owes to the state, Jesus remarked, "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's."

"This man of faith, a believer," the Rev. Mr. Rogers said, "talked in terms of having belief and confidence even as a grain of mustard seed, and He made reference to the ability to remove mountains if one's faith was sufficient."

When Jesus found himself in a period of darkness and trial, He prayed, "Not My will but Thine be done."

"On the cross," the Rev. Mr. Rogers said, "He transformed His faith into action in forgiving his murderers and finally committing His spirit into the hands of God."

The Rev. Mr. Rogers said that as a man on the cross, Jesus became the Savior of mankind.

"The events of His life pointed to the supreme sacrifice," he said. "But contrary to the expectations of His enemies, He was not a dead Galilean, but became instead a Living Savior."

Trinity Lutheran

Knowledge of the Ten Commandments is not enough, the Rev. F. Worthmann told his congregation at Trinity Lutheran Church Sunday morning.

Rev. Mr. Worthmann

"The recent H-bomb explosions in the Pacific have made the American people very conscious of the question—how can we live through an atomic attack?" he said. A question weighing more heavily than survival in a bomb raid is this—how can we survive an air raid of Satan and the sinister influences of this unbelieving world?"

The Rev. Mr. Worthmann said that God's law is not an arbitrary set of rules which can be set aside or changed at will.

"All the wisdom of the ages has not been able to improve upon it," he said. "To teach this law clearly and positively by systematic instruction is sorely needed in our day. To obey this law is to court the blessing of heaven and to disobey it is to bring about chaos, ruin and death."

The law is like a Geiger counter revealing the presence of radioactive particles but doing nothing to protect or heal, the Rev. Mr. Worthmann said. The law, he said, reveals the presence of evil but cannot save from sin.

"This remedy God provided for us and revealed it to man through the Gospel," he said. "In this Gospel lies the real secret of survival that God so loved the world that He sent His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

French Cling To New Gain

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—The French clung grimly to newly won positions commanding the Eastern rim of Dien Bien Phu Sunday. They beat off desperate rebel efforts to break through at that vital point, only five-eighths of a mile from the heart of the fortress.

Within the past 24 hours the French have beaten back four counterattacks by thousands of rebels striving to regain the 1,200-foot hill from which they were routed Saturday in bloody hand-to-hand fighting.

The French seized the hill in a surprise infantry attack on the heels of a three-hour artillery barrage. Moving in behind a shield of tanks, the French smashed through a network of fox holes and winding trenches to rout the rebels at bayonet point.

The Vietminh, who apparently had planned to use the hill as a jump-off point for a mass attack on the bastion, were quick to counterattack. But each time they charged up the hill, union troops hurled them back, while French tanks and artillery blasted away at the attackers. Overhead U.S.-supplied French warplanes strafed and dive-bombed the rebel lines.

Veterinarians Ask Compensation For Cattle Destroyed

The executive committee of the Nebraska Veterinary Medical Association passed a resolution Sunday urging Congress to include in the Agriculture Appropriation Bill funds for paying indemnities to owners of cattle having tuberculosis and brucellosis.

Federal-state co-operation for brucellosis, commonly known as "Bang's disease," for area-wide eradication was made possible by the passage of LB 485 in the last Legislature. Such work had to be done on an individual basis previously.

A district may be declared an eradication area with a majority of the cattle owners' approval. Testing will be done in this area for "reactors" — those cattle which tests show have brucellosis. The cattle found having the disease are condemned and sold for slaughter. The payment for these condemned cattle is assumed jointly by the state and federal government, hence the executive committee's resolution.

Formation of area-wide eradication districts has proceeded rapidly in the state.

Mother Says She Burned Two Sons To Get Married

FAYETTEVILLE, W. Va. (AP)—An attractive young mother sat in a bleak jail cell and said she burned her illegitimate twin sons to death a year ago "so I could get married."

Mrs. Gloria June Vandall, 23, waived a preliminary hearing and was held for the Fayette County Grand Jury on charges or arson and murder. She was returned to the jail without bond by Justice of the Peace Virgil Lyons.

Prosecutor Howard W. Carson said Mrs. Vandall admitted setting fire to her home at Meadow Bridge on April 18, 1953. Her 7-month-old sons, David and Daniel, and a niece died in the flames.

Mrs. Vandall calmly told a newsman that her fiance—now her husband—had told her he wouldn't marry her if he had to "raise someone else's kids."

'So," she said," I had to get rid of them." She now is married to Dewey Vandall, a coal miner, and the couple has a 5-month-old daughter.

Home Fire Toll Rises To Seven

DOTHAN, Ala., (AP)—Mrs. G. B. Elmore and her 10-year-old daughter, Johnnie Lee, died within minutes of each other Sunday, bringing to seven the victims claimed by a home fire at Columbia, Ala.

Two other Elmore children, Eugene Allen, 7, and Alice Faye, 4, were listed in fair condition but Mrs. Roy Gilbert of Eufaula was in serious condition.

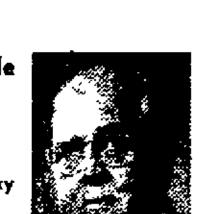

Elmore children who died in the blaze Saturday were Jeannette and Annette, 9-month-old twins; and Doris, 3. Two of Mrs. Gilbert's children, Marcus, 2, and Martha Helen, 2 months old, also perished in the flames.

Police Chief D. E. Nolen said the tragedy resulted when Mrs. Elmore threw kerosene on smoldering ashes in a stove.

HOW TO LOOK A SAUSAGE IN THE EYE

by J. P. Van Winkle

Established 1849

Man named Taylor in the sausage business has a sign on his delivery truck that reads—

"Hog enough to want your business, Man enough to treat you right!"

Sausage you buy mostly on faith. So, for product quality, no other business in the world depends more on the maker's conscience—unless it be my own, distilling.

Which reminds me of another sausage maker, more hog than man. This fellow claimed his product contained 50% rabbit meat. Challenged by a dissatisfied customer, he proved his arithmetic as follows: 1 horse + 1 rabbit = 50/50.

In my 60 years in the distilling business, I've seen a few "sausage whiskies" pop up in the market, and make horse-size claims for a rabbit's worth of quality. They've always been thin whiskies, mashed under pressure to stretch grain, quick-fermented to save time, distilled at high proof to cut barrel and warehouse costs and shorten the aging.

If you're making whiskey by the schooner-load, it's a temptation to pocket these savings. But for the small, family-owned distillery with limited output, like ourselves, such short-cuts don't add up to enough to fool with.

So we keep right on making our original sour mash bourbon in the same slow, costly, old-fashioned way we always have, pay no mind to the other fellow's price, and are content to serve the thin slice of the market which appreciates a bourbon of unusual character and fineness.

We invite you to join the inner circle of business hosts who have discovered our OLD FITZGERALD, and find it good business to share, in moderation, with associates and friends.

Railroads Financially In 'Good Shape;' Officials See But Little Income Decline

Railroads financially are in "good shape," and officials are optimistically looking for a gross revenue decline of only 7.5 per cent from last year—the all-time high in gross railroad receipts.

This appraisal was made by G. R. Glover, assistant to vice president-traffic, Chicago, at a meeting of Burlington agents and representatives in the Cornhusker Hotel Sunday afternoon. More than 400 local agents and their wives from a 100-mile area of Lincoln attended the meeting.

Glover pointed out that last year's all-time high in gross receipts was equalled by an all-time high for operating expenses.

He thought the supply of grain cars for upcoming Nebraska harvests "would be adequate."

On the operational level, he said, more and more cars for special services—such as bulk sugar, bulk flour—would be making their appearances for the first time in greater numbers.

He was especially proud of the box-car with a removable top. It was designed, he said, for quick, easy loading at steel plants, and speedier unloading at warehouses.

V. D. Johnson, agent at Grand Island, was chairman of the meeting, which began Sunday morning and continued through Sunday afternoon. Under discussion were the latest improvements in equipment, schedules, and railroad facilities.

Participating in the meeting were A. C. Bintz, division freight agent; J. C. Grisinger, general superintendent, Lincoln; D. M. Paulson, transportation inspector, and J. A. Killelea, traveling auditor, all of Lincoln.

Two New Ways Of Fighting 'Cancer' Diseases Discovered

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Two promising new weapons against deadly cancer-like diseases of the bones and blood were reported to the American Association for Cancer Research.

One is radioactive iodine, to burn out cancers of the bone in a disease called multiple myeloma. The other is a drug for a disease, polycythemia vera, in which the body makes far too many red blood cells, thickening the blood.

Each treatment, tested for only a year, has benefitted half a dozen patients.

Six Out Of 8

The radio-iodine helped six out of eight persons with multiple myeloma, which can spread through many bones of the body said Drs. Joseph P. Kriss, Howard R. Bierman and Sydney F. Thomas of Stanford University and the City of Hope Medical Center, Duarte, Calif.

All six were relieved of pain, and three gained strength. Two who had been invalids became useful citizens again, and one man has been back at full-time work for 10 months, Dr. Kriss said.

The thyroid gland usually captures all the iodine which is put into the body. So in a first step, the researchers saturated that gland with big doses of ordinary iodine. Then the radioactive iodine was injected, in hopes it would travel through the blood to the bones and shoot its rays into the cancerous cells.

In one patient, the radio-iodine went right to the tumor tissue itself, and in two others much of it went there, Dr. Kriss said.

Palliative, Not Cure

The good effects seem to last three to four months. But then the treatment can be repeated for an equally long benefit. The treatment is palliative, not a cure.

The drug for the blood disease is daraprim, which oddly is one of the best drugs against malaria, said Drs. John W. Frost and Ralph Jones, University of Pennsylvania.

Large doses of daraprim can cause some anemia, hence the reason for trying it for the disease of too many red cells. The disease brings high blood pressure and dangerous threat of brain strokes.

The drug knocks down excessive production of red cells, and benefited all of the first six patients with no undesirable effects, Dr. Jones said.

It is too early to tell whether the drug is better than use of radioactive phosphorus, which also can slow down the red cell factories

The drug is one of a new family which interferes with the working of a B vitamin, folic acid, essential in making red cells and in other body activities. The effect on slowing red cell production can be quickly offset, if necessary, by giving patients the B vitamin, something which cannot be done in the radioactive phosphorus treatment.

Scottsbluff School Paper Gets Prize

OMAHA (AP) — The Echoes, Scottsbluff High School paper, received top honors in the Nebraska Tuberculosis Association's annual high school press project for a news story written by Jean Ann Wilks.

Second place went to the Tiger Tales, high school paper at Utica, for the entry of Sherry Busch, and third place went to the Eagle Beakon, at Oshkosh, for a story by Bonnie Dilley.

A $50 award went to the winning school with $30 to the second place school and $20 to Oshkosh for use in their respective journalism departments.

Certificates of honor were awarded five other high school papers—those at McGrew, Sutton, Johnson, Riverton and Bennington. The articles were "How Our Town Fights TB" and "What Do We Know About TB?"

Ships 600 Miles Away Slightly Radioactive

OSAKA, Japan (INS)—A pair of tuna boats operating over 600 miles away from the boundary of the U.S. atom bomb testing site at Bikini from March 15 to 31 were reported to be slightly radioactive.

Kyodo news service said the two ships were found to register 1,000 counts of radioactivity on life buoys and stay lights on the upper decks.

No radioactivity was registered by either the crew members or the tuna catch.

Farmers Eye Spring Moisture Supply

By CYRIL BISH
Lancaster County Agent

With the growing season starting and not much moisture being added, farmers are wondering if the present supply of subsoil moisture will mature the 1954 crops.

According to a recent survey made by the Extension agents in Lancaster County the winter moisture has penetrated from 36 to 42 inches. The depth of penetration varies between different fields and varies as to the location within the county.

Generally, the south half of Lancaster County holds the edge over the north half of the county. Wheat and cornstalk fields have more moisture stored than do pastures and alfalfa fields.

So far as final yields are concerned, it would seem that small grain yields should be normal providing there is a stand at the present time. Corn must receive additional moisture during the growing season to make average yields, and hay crops will fall short unless above average moisture is received during the growing season.

Sweet Clover Plots

Two demonstration plots to provide comparisons of six varieties of sweet clover and hairy vetch have been established in Lancaster County. The plots are located on the Leo Doeschot farm two miles south of Panama and the George Barry farm two miles north and three and one-half miles west of Raymond.

Besides demonstrating the different varieties of sweet clover, the plots will show the effects of lime and phosporus on legumes. Part of each plot has had an application of lime alone, phosphorus alone, and lime and phosphorus together. The lime and phosphorus applications were made in accordance to the recommendations obtained by having the soil tested.

Killer Beats His Electric Chair Date; Mowed Down In Death House Escape

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—A condemned killer—mowed down by submachine gun bullets after staging a fantastic escape from the Trenton State Prison death house—died early Sunday before he could keep a date with the electric chair.

John L. Vaszorich, scheduled to walk the last mile the week of April 25 for a robbery-killing, engineered the break with the help of two other condemned killers, but never reached the 30-foot walls to freedom.

State and local officials, stunned and angered by the incredible escape, launched two separate probes seeking to fix the blame.

One guard was suspended pending a "very thorough" inquiry into the first escape from the prison death house since 1922. Officials hinted that additional guards might be relieved of duty.

Vaszorich died in the prison hospital with three .45 caliber submachine gun bullets in his body.

Shot By Guard

The 24-year-old Ocean Grove killer was shot by a tower guard as he crouched on the roof of the prison laundry, about a half city block from the death house.

A full-dress investigation was launched almost immediately at the 100-year-old prison that figured prominently in the prison riots of two years ago

Sanford Bates, commissioner of the State Department of Institutions and Agencies, suspended John I. Van Note, 54, of Trenton, a death house guard of 15 years' experience, until the investigations are completed.

Bates said Van Note's story of being held captive for almost three hours while Vaszorich picked the lock of his cell contained "some defects that just don't make sense."

Why No Check?

Officials said they wanted to find out why the prison's central desk did not check the death house when it did not receive regular, half-hour reports from Van Note.

The escape as described:

Vaszorich complained of a headache and asked Van Note for some aspirin.

The guard handed Vaszorich two tablets, but before he could withdraw his hand from the cell, the slayer lunged at him and pinned his arm against the bars

Van Note said Vaszorich was armed with a slender, 15-inch steel reinforcement rod taken from a chair in his cell. One end was sharpened to a dagger point by rubbing it on the cement floor. The other end was curved to form a hook

At this point two convicted killers from Newark, Silvio De Vita, 23 and Joseph Grillo, 24, also awaiting electrocution the week of April 25, pitched in to help Vaszorich.

De Vita passed tools from a corridor desk to Grillo in the next cell and Grillo in turn passed them to Vaszorich.

Picked Lock

Vaszorich, apparently while still holding Van Note, picked the lock of his cell with the screw driver. He then bound Van Note with strips torn from a bedsheet and made his way into the corridor. Vaszorich did not free either De Vita or Grillo.

With the guard's keys and wearing a hat, coat and a spare pair of trousers he found in a locker, Vaszorich left the death house, worked his way to the prison laundry and climbed 15-feet up onto its roof.

Van Note worked himself free and spread the alarm. State Police reinforcements were rushed to the prison and stationed in a ring outside the walls. Inside, guards armed with riot guns and submachine guns, searched frantically for the escapee.

About an hour later, a sweeping searchlight picked out the form of Vaszorich on the roof of the laundry. Guard Alexander H. Abbott Jr., 31, shouted for Vaszorich to come down, and then opened fire when he refused.

Vaszorich, who stood 5-8½ and weighed 173 pounds, fell off the roof with slugs in his arm, leg and side.

They said the other 1,300 inmates remained quiet through all the excitement in marked contrast to the noisy, rampaging demonstrations they put on during the riots of 1952.

Grain Markets Up After Bullish Week

CHICAGO — Grain markets picked up Friday after a somewhat bullish week. Brokers said the drop in prices resulted in fewer offerings from farms, bringing firmer cash markets.

Soybeans continued to be a main market attraction with their high prices and wide fluctuations. May bean futures closed the week 11 cents over the previous week, and 65½ cents above last year. Firmness in soybean oil and meal supported old crop futures.

Trading in wheat grain was sensitive to unfavorable weather conditions in the winter grain belt.

The Department of Agriculture estimated the 1954 winter wheat crop will be 23 per cent smaller than last year. Total abandonment of winter wheat and diversion to uses other than grain for marketing totals nine million acres the government reported.

A crop of 677,681,000 bushels of winter wheat is indicated, based on April 1 conditions, compared with 877,511,000 harvested last year.

The Department of Agriculture also announced last week that farmers in eight spring wheat states can extend farm-storage price support loans on 1952 crop wheat for another 11 months. Farmers who keep this resealed wheat on their farms will earn a storage payment of 14 cents a bushel.

Corn figured in market news last week when futures broke sharply, following the Commodity Credit Corp. announcement that the 1948 and 1949 crops were to be sold. About 170 million bushels of corn are involved in the sale.

According to Sylvester J. Meyers, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, the adminstration's farm program doesn't provide for low enough price supports to prevent huge surpluses of wheat and corn.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS By Arthur 'Bugs' Baer

(Distributed by International News Service)

We got to figuring on an article about the news of the week. Which usually calls for split-second timing on a tired sun dial.

Bugs Baer

We have a combination thinking-cap-crash-helmet that we use to beat the deadline. What stopped us colder than room temperature in an igloo was the thought that this week's news is older than redwood.

It was made by air, water and fire before Noah was waiting for 'em to settle the the longshoreman's strike on Mount Ararat.

It was made when Columbus got more out of an egg than a chef ever did. It was made when Catherine and Napoleon kicked it around a 40-acre lot. From there to Versailles to Appeasement, Berlin, Panmunjom and Points Dull.

Now, they're at Geneva with their ear-phones tuned to what they want to hear.

This is the one where the Chinese Commies will make their bid for international recognition. Based on their age-old ultimatum, "No checkee, no washee."

The main ingredient in the Geneva roll-calling will be Korea and Indo-China. The protagonists will be the Big Four. Communist China and other interested parties.

The other interested parties probably means Moscow and a couple of vacuum-packed satellites. Marginal notations swing the pup by the tail.

That transferred consultation opens in Geneva in two spring-like weeks. This is the first conference attended by the Chinese since the Japs walked out in Lausanne more than 20 years ago. That impolite ... the words and music for Pearl Harbor.

The Geneva meeting will be as interesting as an ant village.

If it goes as scheduled Red China will have its first crack at ...

It's a step toward world representation. Only people missing will be the bushmen of Australia, the clay eaters of Congoland and the head shrinkers of the Orinoco.

Here's How To Work It

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
